MEMO FROM THE MAYOR

KCoC • Page 2 • September 2011

The events of September 11, 2001 changed us all. It changed how we view the world around us and the people who inhabit it. It has made us wary of all who we come into contact with and weary of the daily stress over concern for our loved ones who must make their way through what has become a very complex and uncertain future.

In Kenilworth, like many small towns throughout the United States, this September 11th will be commemorated much as we have over the prior 9 years, with a ceremony to remember those innocent people who are no longer among us; to celebrate the heroism of those who ran into the chaos to try to help save lives and who, in the process, lost their own or who have returned forever scarred by their wish that they could have done more, saved more; and to embrace those who fought through the dust and destruction to return to their families and their loved ones.

- It is a day to grieve and to remember; a day to reflect, if only for a moment, on the importance of family and community; a day to rejoice in the knowledge that we are strong, that we have survived and that we will continue to survive as a nation of free people.
- It is a day to thank those who fight for our freedoms in Iraq, Afghanistan and throughout the world and to wish, with all our hearts, that they return to their families safe and whole.
- It is a day of contradictory emotions, all of which so strong that they threaten to overwhelm us.
- It is a day to be proud, to stand tall and to move forward, even if we do so with blurred vision from the tears that we shed for those we have lost. It is a day to remember and to never forget.
- It is a day to ask for God's blessings upon our country, her leaders and all who live within its borders. May God bless America and may God bless you all.

Mayor Kathi Fiamingo

HOW SHOULD A SCHOOL DEFINE SUCCESS?

Dr. Scott Taylor, Assistant Superintendent, Kenilworth Public Schools

There has been much debate about how schools should define success. The easy answer for many is that success is measured by an increase in standardized test scores. Each November, regional newspapers publish a spread's worth of test score data and district comparison information. However, there are more thorough ways in which to view and measure success.

Secretary of Education, Arne Duncan is proposing sweeping changes to NCLB that would have schools be evaluated based on their ability to prepare students for either posthigh school jobs or college. He is also suggesting that schools would also be judged on their ability to show student growth from school year to school year. Duncan's message is being received well by Washington legislators. The possibility that schools will be viewed through the lens of a "growth model" and an ability to foster postprimary/ secondary school success is welcome news to Kenilworth School District staff. We have in place several initiatives and projects that reflect the national trend to define success according to the growth model of preparedness.

Since arriving in the district, one of my mantras has been, "We must tell the story of a child from Kindergarten to Senior year." Teachers and administrators talked extensively about assessment last year and discussions will culminate this year in the building of an electronic student information system "assessment portal" that will keep common assessment data agreed upon by grade and content-area teachers teams in one place for all district faculty to see. After bringing an assessment tool called Measures of Academic Progress (MAP) to the fold, the district will have constructed a single, comprehensive point of review of a child's performance that will tell the 13-year story of a Kenilworth student.

The Brearley Middle-High School's Personalized Student Learning Plan (PSLP) initiative is designed to help students determine a path out of high school. The newly instituted PSLP program will continually be tweaked to serve the needs of the students as they may change, and district staff will always put a best foot forward to coach our students for life outside Brearley's walls. You can read more about the PSLP initiative in the May 2011 issue of Kenilworth Business Life which can be downloaded at:

www.kenilworthbusinesslife.com

Growth and preparedness are but two measures of student achievement. Success is not always tangible. Veteran teachers know the "aha" moments that are not measured by numbers. New teachers may consider making it to June whole and intact a marker of success. I propose that schools measure success by all of these things and that we recognize that schools are charged with helping children in a multitude of ways.

IS OUR CARD IN YOUR WALLET?

LIBRARY CELEBRATES SEPTEMBER AS LIBRARY CARD SIGN-UP MONTH

In the rush to buy pens, pencils and notebooks for the back to school crowd, busy parents might overlook one of the most important tools they can get for their children - a card at the Kenilworth Public Library. September, in addition to being the traditional "back to school" time, is also National Library Card Sign-Up Month. Although Kenilworth is fortunate to have excellent libraries and librarians in its schools, the public library also plays an important role in the academic success of local students. Studies have shown that children who are read to in the home and use the library do better in school than children who do not have this important advantage. The Kenilworth Public Library offers an opportunity for parents to participate in their children's reading experiences and reinforce the message that reading is important.

Through its webpage, kenilworthlibrary.org, the library provides access to its online catalog, giving cardholders the ability to check the library's holdings and place reserves on items from home. The webpage also provides access to online databases, including a student version of The Encyclopedia Britannica, which can be accessed at home through the Internet at no cost to the user. Additionally, the webpage is the place where parents can stay on top of the library's full schedule of exciting activities and special programs that can be enjoyed by children and their families, including crafts, bingo, toddler time, story times, musical performances, a Friday evening Halloween celebration and even, on occasion, visits to the library by live animals with their handlers. New this year is

Tuesday morning lap sit program for babies and their caregivers. Activities targeted for adult audiences include the library's popular book discussion group as well as a variety of other programs and guest speakers.

An excellent new service available to Kenilworth Library patrons is the ability to sign up for Wowbrary, a weekly online subscription that provides current information regarding the newest books, audiobooks, DVDs and CDs that are being added to the library's collection. The library's webpage prominently features a link to the most current Wowbrary issue, along with a link to get you started with your own subscription. Additionally, patrons wishing to subscribe to the library's email updates of upcoming events and acquisitions of the children's department can do so by contacting Robin Koerner, the library's Coordinator of Children's Services at rkoerner@lmxac.org.

In addition to its excellent collection of books for everyone from babies to seniors, the library currently owns approximately 2,300 DVDs which can be checked out, at no charge, for a three day period. There are also more than 1,000 CDs covering every musical taste imaginable and an ever growing collection of popular audio books in CD format. Through the website, cardholders also have access, through the ListenNJ icon, to hundreds of current and classic downloadable e-books and audiobooks.

But that's not all!!! The library also provides free high speed access to the Internet as well as two computers that serve as dedicated word processors, plus the extremely popular AWE computer which is specially loaded with fun and educational software for children 2 through 9.

Best of all, the Kenilworth Public Library is proud of its people, with a staff that is friendly, knowledgeable and second to none. The library staff stands at the ready to help people find the information they need and the books that they want to read next, regardless of how off the beaten path these requests might be. To see just how helpful and friendly we are, Kenilworth residents who wish to apply for a library card can do so by coming to the library and presenting a current driver's license or other document which provides proof of residency such as a rental agreement or utility bill which includes both the applicant's name and address. For children under age 18, a parent or legal guardian must present any of the above mentioned forms of identification for themselves and co-sign their child's card. Anyone not residing in Kenilworth but who either works or goes to school with the Borough is also eligible for library borrowing privileges as is anyone residing in any community within Union County with the exception of Summit and Winfield Park. The recent completion of the library's elevator makes the library even more welcoming to people with disabilities and babies traveling in strollers.

For more information, please call the Kenilworth Public Library at 908 276-2451 or visit our website at www.kenilworthlibrary.org. The library is located at 548 Boulevard in a building that was first opened to the public 75 years ago. If you have not yet gotten a library card, what better time to become a member than in this special anniversary year.

KENILWORTH FREE PUBLIC LIBRARY

KCoC • Page 7 • September 2011

Located at 548 Boulevard. Library website is www.kenilworthlibrary.org.

Registration for programs may be done in person at the library or by calling 908 276-2451.

The library's regular schedule of operation: Mon, Tues and Thurs: 10:00 AM to 9:00 PM,

Wed: 10:00 AM to 6:00 PM, Fri: 10:00 AM to 5:00 PM, Sat: 10:00 AM to 2:00 PM

I want to take this opportunity to thank and congratulate everyone who contributed to making LibraryFest 2011 the great success that it was. In addition to celebrating the achievements of the children and teens who took part in this year's summer reading clubs, LibraryFest 2011 was also a way for the Board of Trustees and members of the library staff to show our pride in this, the 75th anniversary year of our library building located at 548 Boulevard.

On hand to help us celebrate were a number of local dignitaries including Mayor Kathi Fiamingo, Councilmen Scott Klinder and Fred Pugliese, State Senator Thomas Kean, Jr., State Assemblywoman Nancy Munoz, and Congressman Leonard Lance. During the course of the evening, Congressman Lance acknowledged the recent Congressional Commendation made in honor of the library's 75th anniversary and presented Library Board President Sally Scheuerer with a flag that was flown over the U.S. Capitol.

Special thanks go to our very capable troupe of LibraryFest volunteers: Josephine Angrisano, Dolores Gragham, Rita Iannarilli, Mary Ellen Harris, Emma Lucadema, Karen Lucadema, Ken Lucadem, Lucille Lucadema, Barbara Morison, Carol Pappas, Dorothy Soltys, and Anne Stelzer. Thanks also to library staff members Kathleen Czarnecki, Eileen LoBianco, Lori Pantano, Karen Pavone for there help on the evening of this event. A special "arf" of appreciation goes to Councilman Klinder's dog, Bjorn, who was on hand to meet and greet anyone who wanted to stop by for a friendly pat and shake of the tail. Special acknowledgment must also go to Robin Koerner, not only for her excellent job of arranging and organizing LibraryFest but also for her usual outstanding job of running all aspects of the summer reading clubs including, regular and special programming which had attendance figures totaling more than 1,200 over the course of a period of only seven weeks.

Lastly, I want to thank the parents and children who make coming to the Kenilworth Public Library part of their regular routine. It is a documented fact that children who read or are read to during the summer months return to school in a position of strength relative to their classmates for whom books were not a regular part of their summer vacation. The entire community benefits when the children who are our readers today grow into our leaders of tomorrow.

For those of you in the community who have not yet made your way to the library, it is never too late – September is National Library Card Sign Up Month and we look forward to seeing you soon.

Dale Spindel
Library Director
Kenilworth Public Library

IN THE AFTERMATH OF HURRICANE IRENE

From the desk of Mayor Kathi Fiamingo

In the aftermath of Hurricane Irene, I want to express my thanks to all of the police, emergency and public works personnel who worked tirelessly to do what they could for the residents of this Borough.

Our police officers patrolled throughout the storm on Saturday night and Sunday, standing ready to help anyone in need. On Sunday morning, when a good part of the Borough had lost power, the police were helping residents navigate the streets, safe from fallen trees and downed wires. Chief Grady, Captain Hannon, Lt. Dowd, Sgt. Fennes, and Sgt. Sims, among others stood front and center, helping with the recovery efforts.

The members of the Department of Public Works readied themselves to clear fallen trees and debris, so that the streets were passable and utility workers could get to the process of restoring power. The DPW began their work early on Sunday morning and continued until all of the trees and debris were cleared. Supt. Ryan arranged to have trucks come in to clear the water soaked property of people hardest hit in the flooding.

Sunday morning the neighborhood on the west side of the Borough, near the Cranford border, was flooded with several feet of water. The Boulevard from Pembroke Drive west to Cranford was a lake and flood water filled the basements and living areas of homes in that area.

Throughout Saturday evening and well into Tuesday night, the members of the Kenilworth Volunteer Fire Department and Rescue Squad worked around the clock to do what they could to pump water out of homes and assist as many people as possible. On Sunday, boats were employed to assist several people from their homes to safety.

In addition to assisting people who had sustained severe damage from the flooding caused by Hurricane Irene, the Fire Department and Rescue Squad answered fire and rescue calls. Keep in mind that the members of the Fire Department and Rescue Squad are volunteers, serving without compensation to provide help to the residents of this Borough.

Many residents also offered their help which was gratefully accepted. Joey Lospinoso and his wife, Patty, brought sandwiches to the Fire Fighters. Rich Vitale lent his boat to help get some residents out of their homes and through the flood waters. Ed Pastor sent a front end loader to get some fire fighters through the flooded streets to a home to answer a rescue call. Rich Picerno brought a large truck in case it would be needed to get through the waters and ferry people from their homes to dry ground.

Throughout the storm and during the clean up efforts I maintained contact with Police Chief Grady, Fire Chief Giordino and Department of Public Works Superintendent Ryan. I can attest to their hard work and long hours.

Fire chief Giordino was particularly helpful in keeping me informed about where help was most needed. As I write this memo on the Tuesday evening after the Hurricane, the chief and the members of the fire department and rescue squad are still out there helping the residents and I am in contact with PSEG officials to push for the quick restoration of service for residents on the south side of town who remain without power.

The governing body will do its best to assist those who suffered losses. At this point, the Borough is waiving permit fees in addition to those waived by the State for flood related repairs. We urge residents to obtain permits so that their repair work will be inspected by qualified Borough inspectors for the safety of the residents.

These past several days have been difficult for many of our residents. Our hearts are with all of those who were most affected by the flooding. We are all thankful that they are safe.

LIBRARY TO FEATURE PHOTOGRAPHY BY JAMES OCCI

During the months of September and October, the "Gallery on the Boulevard" at the Kenilworth Public Library will hold an exhibit, "Natural Textures," featuring works by photographer James L. Occi. The images on display are an exploration of nature's patterns – whether they are of animal, mineral or vegetable origin. The photographs reveal intricate details of items we are accustomed to seeing every day and yet often fail to appreciate.

James Occi's unique photographs are taken from the perspective of someone who is a self taught photographer and also a scientist with advanced degrees in the biological sciences. He entered the world of professional photography by photographing ticks for a Master's thesis on Lyme disease, eventually becoming the preeminent tick photographer for many researchers and organizations specializing in this subject area. A resident of Cranford, Occi eventually entered the realm of conventional photography (sports, cityscapes, weddings) and is now the primary free-lance photographer for the Cranford Chronicle, covering mostly high school athletic events.

Occi's work has been included in publications as The New York Times, and Outdoor Life as well as in many scientific and medical journals and web sites. Public exhibitions of his images have been seen in the American Museum of Natural History in an exhibit called Epidemic! and in a SOHO exhibit about 9/11 called Here Is New York. Examples of Occi's work can be found at www.jimocci.com.

BOOK GROUP TO DISCUSS LARK & TERMITE

The book group of the Kenilworth Public Library will meet at 7:15 on Tuesday, September 6, to discuss Lark & Termite, by Jayne Anne Phillips. Set in both West Virginia and Korea during the 1950s, this novel focuses on the sibling relationship between teenaged Lark and her brother Termite, a beautiful child who is, nonetheless, unable to speak or walk. Other characters in the novel include Lark and Termite's emotionally absent mother, Lola; Nonie, the aunt who effectively raises them, and Termite's father, Corporal Robert Leavitt, a soldier in the Korean War. According to the book liner notes, this novel "is a story of the power of loss and love, the echoing ramifications of war, family secrets, dreams and ghosts, and the unseen, almost magical bonds that unite and sustain us."

Participation in the book discussion group is free and open to all members of the general public, including residents of communities other than Kenilworth. Previous experience with a book group is not required and new members are always welcome. Copies of the book will be available for check out at the circulation desk and residents of communities other than Kenilworth should inquire regarding ways they might be eligible for borrowing privileges at the Kenilworth Public Library. Because space is limited, preregistration is requested and can be done at the library or by calling 908 276-2451 during regular library hours.

UNION COUNTY COLLEGE OFFERS FREE BASIC COMPUTER SKILLS CLASSES

Union County College's Industry-Business Institute will continue their program of free basic computer skills classes this fall. These classes are offered at the Elizabeth and Cranford Campuses of Union County College through a unique partnership of the New Jersey Business and Industry Association (NJBIA), the New Jersey Community College Consortium, and the New Jersey Department of Labor and Workforce Development.

Through the grant-funded NJBIA Project, companies with a minimum class of ten participating employees can bring these classes to their own premises. Although these classes are provided at no charge to the company, employers must pay their employees the customary hourly wage while in training. Companies are not required to provide a minimum number of employees for NJBIA training scheduled at Union CC sites, pay for class tuition, fill out complicated paperwork, or disclose financial statements.

Training is available in the following areas: Computer Applications (Windows, Outlook, Excel, Word). NJBIA program also offers Mathematics and Measurement, Communications (verbal, written and customer relations), and English as a Second Language.

For a complete schedule visit the Industry-Business Institute's page under Community and Business at www.ucc.edu or call 908-965-2359.

If you are interested in learning more about the NJBIA Project program, or to reserve classes for your company, please contact Lisa

The NJBIA Project program was designed to simplify employee training for New Jersey businesses. Now in its fifth year (2011-2012), this program has already benefited more than 16,550 employees with 1,125 companies and is available through all 63 of the State's community college campuses.
