LINDEN FIRST IN U.S. WITH CHINESE EDUCATION PROGRAM

The Linden Public School district has signed an official agreement with The Office of Chinese Language Council International (Hanban) for Linden to be a model K-12 school district for the new Great Wall Chinese instructional program. Linden is the first model Great Wall Chinese K-12 school district in the United States. Two Great Wall Chinese Center teachers have already visited the district to set up the computer support and student accounts necessary to implement the program. Great Wall Chinese is a new Chinese teaching and learning system based on cutting edge network and multimedia technology. Great Wall Chinese mixes direct instruction with courseware technology, and uses a new management system for teachers to electronically monitor student progress over the Internet.

As part of the agreement, the Linden Public School district has already conducted its first workshop for Chinese teachers from around the Northeast held on October 22, 2011. The workshop attracted Chinese teachers from New Jersey, New York and Delaware. Attendees were introduced to the Great Wall Chinese system, and Great Wall Chinese trained teachers then demonstrated the various techniques using Linden students at the high and middle school level.

The Linden Public School District is now in its fifth year of teaching Chinese, providing instruction at all levels from grades 1 through 12, including the high school International Baccalaureate Program. The district has over 6,000 students with 4,773 in grades 1 to 12. Of those students, 25%, or 1,195, are studying Chinese.

The Linden Public School District is designated as a model district for Bilingual and ESL education by the New Jersey Department of Education. The District teaches six world languages including Spanish, French, German, Italian, Russian and Chinese. At the high school level, students regularly participate in exchange visits to the language country of origin, and host return visits to Linden. Linden High School has a formal partnership with the Xiamen Foreign Language School in Xiamen, China. Students from Linden have visited Xiamen three times, and students from Xiamen have visited Linden twice. Mutual exchange visits are again scheduled for this school year.

The study of Chinese as a world language in Linden, a city with few heritage Chinese residents, grew from a 2007 visit to China by Mrs. Alphonsina Paternostro, Linden's Supervisor of World Languages/Bilingual/ESL. Mrs. Paternostro attended the government sponsored "China Bridge" tour in 2007 visiting with key governmental and educational leaders seeking to promote the study of Chinese in the United States. Mrs. Paternostro was recently honored by the New Jersey Principals and Supervisors Association, earning an award as the Visionary Supervisor of the Year for 2011.

The following year, Rocco Tomazic, then Linden's Assistant Superintendent, traveled to China on the 2008 "China Bridge". Then Linden Superintendent Mr. Joseph E. Martino authorized the expansion of the Chinese program and appointed Ms. JuPing Chen as a Program Advisor to help guide the program forward.

Linden has greatly benefited from its association with Hanban, the Great Wall Chinese Center, and Xiamen Foreign Language School. Hanban has provided thousands of dollars in free educational materials in each of the eleven schools in Linden. By being designated a model Great Wall Chinese district, Linden has obtained over $15,000 worth of educational hardware and software free of charge, together with the services of highly trained specialists from China that has provided high quality professional development at no cost. The association with Xiamen Foreign Language School has allowed Linden students a safe and secure environment to interact with Chinese students and experience Chinese culture first hand.

"In these tough economic times, public school districts are challenged to do more with less," says Linden Superintendent Rocco Tomazic. "Great Wall Chinese is a perfect example of how a school system can partner with outside organizations to obtain high quality support at low cost, all with the object of significantly helping students move confidently into their future."

GEORGE DORIN AWARDED LINDEN 2011 VETERAN OF THE YEAR

George Dorin was born in Lakewood, Ohio on March 9, 1926. His parents moved east soon after his birth and settled in Newark, NJ where George attended public schools.

When George reached the age of 16, he was already aware of the effects of war since both of his older brothers, John with the Army Air Corp and Michael with the Army Paratroopers, were already serving in the Pacific Islands.

At this early age George's desire to serve brought him to the Marine recruiting station in Newark; however, when they learned that he had two brothers already serving and of his young age, they denied his request. George then tried the Navy, which also because of his young age, contacted his mother who confirmed that she already had two sons serving. They turned him down as well.

Undaunted by setbacks, he joined a line at the Army recruiting station and begged his mother not to keep him from going. By June of 1944, at 17-1/2 years of age, he was in boot camp and getting ready to be sent overseas for combat.

George served with George Patton's Third Army and his unit, the 35th Division, was sent to Southern France where he engaged in the Battle of the Bulge. He saw combat in the Rhineland and at Bastogne, Belgium from November of 1944 until he was captured by the Germans on January 4, 1945.

On January 4th, his unit was engaged in battle from 4:00 a.m. to approximately 9:00 a.m. After 5 hours of battle, all but he and two others were either wounded or killed. They were taken prisoner by the Germans.

At first they were taken to a train tunnel for interrogation and were repeatedly punched in the face during that period of time. Then they were made to walk for 32 days to work on a railroad in Germalstein. These prisoners were repeatedly beaten and kicked in the back while working and beaten while marched through town.

They were then taken to a prison camp called Linberg 11B and put in solitary confinement for two days for missing a roll call. Following this imprisonment, they walked to a town called Mayen and were put into box cars for 5 days. During that time they were periodically strafed by allied planes.

Food was scarce – one loaf of bread and one sausage or one bowl of thin soup was supplied as a day's rations. There were at least 60 prisoners in each box car and everyone suffered from dysentery. The crowded conditions allowed only room enough for the prisoners to sit between each other's legs. One corner was used for the prisoners to defecate. They reached Stalag 4B after 32 days and food was so inadequate that they suffered malnutrition.

George was processed and put in a barracks with some British prisoners where the unit worked on wood details. During this confinement, George suffered frostbite on his hands and ears as well as trench feet.

In June of 1945 his group was liberated by the Russians. He was first hospitalized at Camp Lucky Strike in France, and then taken to the States and received treatment at Inglan General Hospital, now known as Resorts International in Atlantic City for six months. He received continued treatment for two years following that at the Veterans Admin. in Newark, N.J.

George holds the following Medals of Honor: Bronze Star – POW – Good Conduct – European-African-Middle Eastern Campaign – WWII Victory and Combat Infantryman Badge.

In 1988, he was a recipient of the National Medal of Recognition by the United States to all former Prisoners of War at Ft. Dix, N.J.

A resident of Linden since 1965, he lived with his wife Maryann at 400 Morristown Road until he died in August of 2001. He is the father of two daughters, Carolyn Dorin-Ballard and Cathy Dorin-Lizzi, both of whom were coached in bowling by their Dad and became

CITY OF LINDEN BUSINESS COMMUNITY INVITED TO PARTICIPATE IN A RUTGERS UNIVERSITY FOCUS GROUP ON NJ AMERICAN WATER UTILITY

Dr. Judy Shaw, Professor of environmental studies at the Rutgers University, Bloustein School of Public Planning and Policy, reached out to the Linden Business community to participate in a focus group discussing NJ American Water Utility service delivery and associated water quality. Dr. Shaw is no stranger to the City of Linden and its business community. Prior to accepting the position at Rutgers University, Dr. Shaw was a senior member of the NJ Department of Environmental Protection and assisted the LEDC in expediting a Brownfield remediation report, processing, and grants for Brownfield contamination studies.

The goal of the project was to conduct research to understand how residential water customers feel about the quality of their water, what they understood about how the state of the systems' delivery infrastructure affects them, and how they garner information through digital media, or whether customers still rely on traditional media outlets (newspaper, radio and television) to learn about their water system.

The focus group discussed the following research questions:

1. What is the customers' basic understanding of available potable water and its utility to general activities of daily life?
2. How is potable water part of participant's daily living?
3. What is the value of potable water to families and benefits to the community?
4. How aware are customers of infrastructure (Water Delivery Systems) issues in NJ?
5. Are customers aware of the water infrastructures in NJ?
6. How do customers view responsibility for state residents for infrastructure improvements and maintenance?
7. How willing would customers be to accept increase in water bills to address infrastructure upgrades?
8. What is known of the economics of water distribution and overall capacity of this region to compete economically?
9. What public issues concern people?
10. How do people learn about issues?

11. Where do water customers get information and what is their preferred social communication media?
12. How often do people rely on Internet for information?
13. Where do people go to research for information on issues?

Dr. Shaw praised the knowledge level of the Focus participants and found their feed back very valuable in understanding the water utility issues and providing a practical approach to addressing the issues.

Business community participants in the Focus Group were: Ron Stefanowicz, Linden Economic Development Corp.; Gary Fare, Linden Roselle Sewerage; Joe Barbanel, Solar Compounds; Tom Noble, Solar Compounds and former GM Manager; Mary Purves, Linden Environmental Committee; Angie Tsirkas, Northfield Bank; Marc Stephanick, Merck & Co.; Valarie Congiliano, Magna Plate Corp.; Janet Miller, Cox Printing and Tom Boland, Linden Towers.

STUDENTS PROMOTE CANCER AWARENESS

The Linden High School Youth for United Way club raised awareness during Breast Cancer Awareness Month by organizing a pink day. The club worked together to design a banner for the main lobby, and students and faculty were asked to dress in pink. Awareness ribbons were also given out. The Youth for United Way club, coordinated by Linden High School teacher Esther Paden, conducts meetings every Wednesday after school. They focus on ways to help the community and to make a difference.

Linden High School senior, Alimat Mahmoud, has been selected as the 2011 New Jersey Rising Scholars Recipient. This young lady has been recognized for her academic excellence and her community service. Alimat is a very well rounded student who applies herself in all arenas available to a public high school student. She is enrolled in the International Baccalaureate program (IB), orchestra and choir, is in the Peer Leadership Program, as well as the Learn and Serve volunteer program.

The New Jersey Department of Education (DOE), in collaboration with the Malcolm Bernard Historically Black College or University (HBCU) College Fair of New Jersey recognized up to 75 students as rising scholars and Linden High School is proud to acknowledge the achievements of Alimat Mahmoud. This award will enable her to meet with over 40 representatives from HBCU institutions and apply for admission and scholarship opportunities.

ST MARY & ELIZABETH COMPETE IN FORENSICS

Six students from Saints Mary & Elizabeth Academy participated in the Forensics Reading Competition that was held at Hillside Catholic Academy on November 16th.

Out of the 42 students that participated, David Tibbs from the Academy tied for Third Place with his dramatic reading of the Telltale Heart by Edgar Allan Poe.

Other members of the school's team received positive comments regarding their reading. This was a valuable experience for all of the participants to have the opportunity to speak in front of an appreciative audience.

A VISIT WITH SANTA

The Children's Room of the Linden Public Library will be sponsoring "A Visit with Santa." This event will be for children who are ten years old or younger, and who live in Linden. Our Visit with Santa will be on Tuesday, Dec. 13, 2011 from 3:00 to 5:00 p.m.

This event will be held on the third floor of the library. Registration is required, and tickets will be given out to those who have registered in advance. You must have a ticket to attend. Please register in the Children's Room at the Linden Public Library on 31 E. Henry Street, or by e-mail to the Children's Librarian, Karen Gray at: kgray@lindenpl.org

LINDEN FREE PUBLIC LIBRARY

LIBRARIES JOIN TOGETHER TO CHECK OUT HUNGER IN NJ

Help check out hunger this holiday season with donations to a Food Drive being sponsored by the Union County Public Libraries. Now through December 16, the Linden Public Library will be accepting donations of non-perishable food items to benefit the New Jersey Community Food Bank and other local food pantries. Collection bins are conveniently located at the library and library staff route 100% of the donations to designated food banks.

During these tough economic times, many people in New Jersey have been left behind; low income families; struggling single parents; the elderly on a fixed income; the unemployed. The New Jersey Community Food Bank assists by supplying food to over 1,500 non-profit charities in 19 counties, including soup kitchens, food pantries, shelters, local food banks, after school programs and senior centers.

To make this holiday season hunger free, simply visit your local library with a donation of non-perishable items. Groceries most urgently needed are canned meat and fish; canned soups and stews; peanut butter (in plastic jars); boxed pasta and rice; powdered milk; infant formula; canned vegetables and fruits.

CHILDREN MUSIC CONCERT

The Linden Public Library is sponsoring a free Holiday Concert for children who are residents of Linden. The concert will be held on Thursday, Dec. 8th, 2011 from 3:45 to 4:30 p.m.

Our performer will be Louie Miranda who will bring his guitar, and other instruments for a lively show complete with seasonal songs. Please sign up for the concert at the Linden Library, located at 31 E. Henry Street. You can pick up your tickets for the concert when you register. This concert is best suited to younger children. Middle school and high school students can attend the "Rhythm and Rhymes" concert on December 6th from 4:00 to 5:00 p.m. Please register in the Children's Room at the Linden Public Library on 31 E. Henry Street, or by e-mail to the Children's Librarian, Karen Gray at: kgray@lindenpl.org

P.A.L. HOLDS HOLIDAY BOOK COLLECTION

The Linden Police Athletic League (P.A.L.) conducts programs for children who live in Linden. This year, they have a new project. The P.A.L. is collecting new (or like-new) books to give as holiday presents to the children in their programs. They would like to see every child own a book for the holiday season. If you are able to donate a book for a child, please bring it (or them) to the Linden Free Public Library. There is a collection box in the main hall where you may contribute your book. The library is located at 31 East Henry Street, just off Wood Avenue, at the junction of the 7-11 Store, and Dunkin' Donuts. Books will be collected through Wednesday, Dec. 21st, 2011. If you have any questions, please e-mail the Children's Librarian, Karen Gray at: kgray@lindenpl.org

MORNING STAR DELIVERS HUNDREDS OF THANKSGIVING BASKETS

Every year around this time many needy families go without a Thanksgiving dinner. With the economy still down, more families will be turning to charities for support during the holidays. For the past several years, Morning Star has prepared and delivered fully-stocked baskets to those in need.

This charitable initiative is based on the simple concept that a small act of generosity by one person can positively change the lives of many. With the economy as gloomy as it is, more and more families are struggling just to make ends meet. Morning Star also recognizes that it may be difficult for needy families to get to our location and has taken this matter into account and has created the perfect "solution" by not only providing the turkey and all the trimmings but pledging to personally deliver the items to the homes of the families.

"We are privileged to help those less fortunate and it is our corporate mission to give and serve our local community," stated Pastor Therman Evans. "Last year we were able to give thanksgiving baskets and turkeys to over 500 families. This year close to 700 families in the Linden, Roselle, and surrounding neighborhood received a turkey and all the fixings for their Thanksgiving dinner."

LINDEN POLICE DEPARTMENT COLLECTS FOOD FOR NEEDY YEAR-LONG

Linden Police officers of PBA Local #42 and the Linden Superior Officer's Association and members of the City of Linden Police Records Bureau recently made a donation of food items to the food pantry of First Baptist Church on Dill Avenue in Linden.

The Police department and Record Bureau workers continue their efforts to assist stocking the city's food pantries for the many families and senior citizens who are in need of aid. There are six food pantries on the department list.

PBA #42 President Det. Joseph Birch said "We know that the steadily rising cost of food and gasoline prices and the continued economic downturn has placed a strain on service programs. With so many citizens struggling to put food on their plates, we wanted to help our pantries accommodate all who come for help."

"Of course, it seems the holidays always make us more acutely aware of those around us who are in need and how we, as a group, can try to help," Turbett said.

Anyone else who wishes to help support the food drive are encouraged to drop off any non-perishable food items; including baby formula and baby food, to the Linden Police Department any time of the day or night. The department hopes to continue collecting food year long.

The girls of Clark Daisy Troop 425 recently completed their November community service project by sponsoring a Thanksgiving themed food drive. The canned goods and other non-perishable food collected were donated to the Linden Food Pantry located on East Elm Street in Linden, NJ.

"We are always trying to find different ways to help in the community and to teach the girls about the importance of assisting others," said co-troop leader Alicia Scipioni. "We're all so proud of the girl's generosity and their willingness to help those in need."

BUCKLE UP

By Amy Eisenhauer, EMT, Linden Emergency Medical Services, Inc.

The most effective form of protection in a motor vehicle crash is your seat belt. Airbags work with your seat belt to protect you; they are not as effective alone and can increase your chance of injury when used without a seat belt. A ten second action we take for granted can save your life and your loved ones lives. Do you wear yours?

Over the past ten years, more than 2,000 unbuckled drivers and front seat passengers died on NJ roads. That's one person every other day. 700 unrestrained drivers and front passengers were thrown from their vehicles and perished on NJ roads. Crashes happen suddenly and many things happen almost at once. Your vehicle stops abruptly, but you and others in your vehicle are still in motion. A seat belt helps to keep you in place limiting the opportunity of colliding with objects or people inside your vehicle. If you are not restrained you can become a dangerous projectile striking and injuring other passengers. It is possible to bounce around inside your vehicle striking your head and cause a traumatic brain injury. You can also be ejected from the vehicle you are in and land in the roadway where other cars may not see you. In many rollover crashes people who are restrained receive little or no injury and walk away from the accident. Seat belts not only protect you from death, but limit serious injury requiring long term care, time out of work and possible permanent physical or mental disability by half according to the Center for Disease Control (CDC). Per the CDC the lifetime cost of death and permanent physical injuries incurred while unrestrained was $70 billion in 2005.

New Jersey seat belt law applies to all passenger vehicles required to be equipped with seat belts. In January 2010, the law was passed requiring all occupants to buckle up, or use appropriate child safety restraints, regardless of their seating position in a vehicle. The new law allows police to issue tickets to unbuckled rear seat occupants, 18 years old or older, as a secondary offense when a vehicle is stopped for another violation. As always, the driver and front seat passenger must be restrained or an officer can stop the vehicle and issue summons as a primary offense. Children up to age 8 or 80 pounds must ride in a safety or booster seat in rear of vehicle. If a child is under 8 years old, but over 80 pounds they must wear a seat belt anywhere in the vehicle. Passengers 8 to 18 must wear a seat belt anywhere inside the vehicle. More information about the seat belt law can be found at www.nj.gov.

According to The National Highway Traffic Safety Administration's Unconscious Motivators and Situational Safety Belt Use report, most people use their seat belts. When they don't, they are usually in situations where they feel safe and ignore the risks described above. The biggest offenders are: teens, men, truck drivers and pickup drivers. What can you do? Take the time to buckle up. Use a positive approach when encouraging others to use their seat belts. Some examples are: wearing a seat belt helps you feel in control, because other people care about you and your safety, to be a good role model to your children, to be a good passenger. Don't be afraid to start a conversation or ask your friends to wear their seat belts. You might be surprised as to how well the conversation will go. They might be waiting for you to bring up the conversation and start a discussion.

Wearing your seat belt all the time is the best way to avoid a preventable injury during a motor vehicle crash. So many things on the road are out of our control; distracted or incapacitated drivers, road conditions, debris on roadway. Take charge of your own safety when driving and buckle up.
