REPRESENTING RAHWAY THROUGH THEIR MUSIC

A number of Rahway High School students have been actively representing our high school and community through their musical talents.

Junior, Robert Parson and bassoonist recently performed with the N.J. Region II Honors Orchestra for a concert on January 6th conducted by Dr. Virginia Allen, a principal conductor at the Julliard School. Sophomore trumpet, Phillip Schroeder and senior clarinetist, Kelsey Williams will be performing on January 13th with the N.J. Region II Honors Symphonic Band. These three students were chosen by selective audition process in December and provided the opportunity to perform with other high achieving student musicians from throughout NJ.

The three students will also be representing Rahway High School at the end of the month as they audition for a spot with the NJ All State Bands and Orchestras.

Message from the President MY NEW YEAR'S RESOLUTION

"Is it true, Is it necessary, Is it kind"

Many years ago I read an adage that deeply touched me and also changed me. It was written by Paul Twitchell, founder of the religion of Eckankar. Mr. Twitchell advised that when we are faced with having to respond to a tough situation, pause and ask of your response: "is it true, is it necessary, is it kind". Twitchell advised that if it didn't meet that test, than say nothing until such a time that you can make it pass that test. I know very well that this is by no means an easy thing to do: that's why it's my new year's resolution.

How we communicate each day with others has a huge and immeasurable impact on our lives and the lives of those we live and work and socialize with. If we pause for a moment and look back on how we responded to others this past week, is there one time that perhaps what we said didn't pass this test? As for me, I'll try my best this year to let this maxim always guide me in my dealings with our world.

BACK BY POPULAR DEMAND! 2nd ANNUAL RAHWAY DAY, SAT., MAY 4th, 10-2PM

By Carmen McLendon and Jasmine Leake

After the rousing success of our First Rahway Day celebration last year, the Rahway Chamber of Commerce is very excited to begin planning for this year's event!

Rahway Day and its theme, "Think Rahway First," was conceived by the Chamber to showcase all that Rahway has to offer to our residents and businesses, while also welcoming newcomers to our town.

Rahway Day will take place on May 4, 2013, at our city's Library, from 10:00AM until 2:00PM, rain or shine. The festive atmosphere, as well as activities for all ages, will make this a great event for everyone.

Our host for the event is the Rahway Public Library with the support of the Friends of the Rahway Library. As they did last year, The Friends will be running their 3rd annual "Race Around Rahway" in conjunction with the Rahway Day celebration. The race will begin at 11:00 AM that day, and the registration table can be found at Library Plaza.

On behalf of the Chamber of Commerce, I would like to encourage each Rahway business, school, organization, house of worship and City Department to participate. We are providing table space both inside and outside at a nominal charge to accommodate the first 50 requests.

Request your registration packet by emailing Cheryl@rahwaychamberofcommerce.com. Shakira Johnson of JohnsonPR will coordinate vendors, and Linda Freeman Chandler will be our MC.

The Rahway HS Band and many other talented performers will entertain us. Your presence will help make this event even better!

Advertise in this newspaper

Each month 4,000 newspapers are printed and 1,200 are mailed free to every business in Rahway with the balance being distributed free throughout town.

TOYS FOR TOTS

The Blue and Gold Club at Franklin School in Rahway held a Toys For Tots drive throughout December. Franklin Elementary students and staff donated many toys, which were given to underprivileged children in the community during the holiday season.

JUNIOR GEOLOGISTS

Fourth grade students at Roosevelt School in Rahway enjoyed a class trip to Sterling Hill Mine in Ogdensburg, NJ, as a culminating activity to their study of Earth Materials. The students completed a scavenger hunt in the mining museum, toured the tunnels of the zinc mine, and participated in a rock discovery where each child collected six different types of rocks to keep, as well as a fluorescent one. A highlight of the trip was viewing the spectacular mineral fluorescence display in the Rainbow Room.

(above) Inside the mine museum, the children were enthralled with more stories about how mining took place in New Jersey.

SNOWFLAKES SENT TO SANDY HOOK

Recently, snowflakes became a lesson in compassion and sharing when students in the Blue and Gold Club at Franklin Elementary School in Rahway made and decorated snowflakes to send to Sandy Hook Elementary School in Newtown, Connecticut. The idea, which has been embraced by schools not only around the country, but all over the world, is to send decorated snowflakes to the new school where Sandy Hook students have been relocated. These wonderfully artistic and heartfelt creations will be used to decorate the halls of Sandy Hook School at Chalk Hill, as well as other community locations around Newtown.

RAHWAY FACULTY TO PERFORM IN CONCERT

Rahway Public School's very own performing arts faculty will be taking their own moment in the spotlight as they perform in recital at the Hamilton Stage on Wednesday, January 23rd at 7 pm.

In what has become a Rahway tradition, the faculty will perform through a variety of musical styles in an evening of solos, small groups and even large ensembles. The evening will feature works from diverse sources of the classical, Broadway, jazz and even pop/rock repertoire. Selections include Manuel De Falla's "Ritual Fire Dance" for concert piano, a performed transcription of jazz trombonist J.J. Johnson, a tango for rhythm section, bassoon and cello, and even the music of "Tower of Power" and "Blood, Sweat and Tears." The evening will feature both a faculty big band and a rock band with horn section which they humorously call "Staff Infection".

Rahway Academy Band Director, Amara Van Wyk shares, "Our Rahway Public School performing arts faculty are a close knit group of educators that love sharing our love of music with our students. Our annual recital is a great way for our team to come together in putting on this performance for the community."

REPRESENTING RHS THROUGH THEIR MUSIC

Sophomore, Brianna Porr and Junior, Leon Chou, both percussionists, represented Rahway High School as members of the Central Jersey Symphonic Band Invitational. These students were nominated by their teachers, accepted into this honors ensemble and will perform in concert on January 19 at Sayreville War Memorial High School.

Rahway High School Band Director, Robert Van Wyk states, "We are so excited for our students' achievement, providing them the great opportunity to perform with other great high school musicians from around the state and show off some of the best that Rahway High School has to offer."

WINTER CONCERT

Every year at this time, the Roosevelt School auditorium in Rahway becomes a winter wonderland filled with the sound of music. The talented student musicians are, once again, looking to spread good cheer through their annual Winter Holiday Concert. Featuring a blend of holiday favorites and additional crowd-pleasing selections, the concert included performances by Band, Chorus, and String Ensembles. The musicians were led by Music teachers Sofya Kitenberg, Kate Rattner, and YuWei Haynes.

RAHWAY REMEMBERS CAROLYN WELLS

Submitted by Al Shipley, City historian and Rahway Library research consultant

During her lifetime, Rahway native Carolyn Wells (1869–1942) became known as “America’s Most Famous Mystery Writer” and was considered the authority on that particular genre. In a career spanning over forty years Ms. Wells produced a body of more than one hundred and seventy works.

Born in Rahway, the daughter of New York insurance executive William Wells, she grew up in the elegant Victorian style home which still graces the corner of Elm and Esterbrook Avenues. From an early age she had a love for literature. After her graduation from Rahway High she became an assistant librarian at the Rahway Library and in 1890 was named head librarian, a position she held for twelve years. Surrounded by books, she eventually tried her hand at writing stories of her own and in 1896 published The Sign of the Sphinx, a collection of verse riddles.

Over the next fourteen years Wells penned stories and poems geared mainly for young readers. Her early works featured playful poetry, nonsense verse, humor and children’s novels. Akin to the popular Bobbsey Twins series, she created the Patty Books, the Margorie Books and the Dick and Dolly series.

Wells’ career took a turn after 1910 when she became fascinated with the structure of the mystery story and ventured into the format having a more sophisticated adult audience in mind. From 1910–1940 she wrote a succession of some seventy mystery novels and created her own detective character, a distinguished sleuth named Fleming Stone. In 1929 she wrote The Technique of the Mystery Story considered by aficionados of the field to be the “most understanding study of the mystery form produced up to that time.”

In 1918 Ms. Wells married Hadwin Houghton, son of the wealthy book publisher Bernard Houghton and heir to the Houghton–Mifflin publishing empire, and moved to New York City where she lived until her death. Although she loved the New York social scene, her years in Rahway held special memories as she related in her autobiography Rest of My Life (1937).

“Across the street from my home lived a Quaker gentleman with a large estate like an English Park. It pleased him to walk around his gardens at sunset and I often walked with him. He told me the names of his many rare trees and flowers.”

“When I married I came to New York to live, which gratified a lifelong longing. Not that I didn’t love my New Jersey home with its broad lawns, big trees, flower gardens and pleasant verandas.”

Ms. Wells died on March 26, 1942 and was brought back to her hometown to be interred in the Rahway Cemetery next to her husband who had passed on a few years earlier. Her stately Elm Avenue home and her eclectic collection of books (the Rahway Public Library has over one hundred of her titles) keeps her connection to Rahway alive.

(above) The stately home of author Caroline Wells (1869–1942) as it looked in the 1930s. By that time it had become the office of Dr. George Orton and in later years the office of his sons, Drs. Stuart and Foster Orton. Today, it houses the practice of Dr. Anthony Colalillo.

Most alumni had finished their first semester, but the group included alumni from 2007 to 2012. Students came from Harvard Law, Cornell University, Rutgers University, New Jersey Institute of Technology, University of the Sciences, University of Miami, Rider University, Johnson & Wales University, Fordham University, Monmouth University, and Kean University as well as a student currently doing a Gap Year who will start Amherst College in the fall and a professional dancer who is attending college concurrently. Administrators and Guidance Counselors appreciated the reinforcement of messages they have been giving all year. Hearing the same message from peers made it more likely to sink in.

Above is a selection of the choice morsels of advice that recent graduates of Rahway High School shared with their peers who look ahead to college matriculation next year. These recent graduates met with about 60 seniors and juniors to share perspectives at the annual Alumni Tea held on Thursday, January 3.

Most alumni had finished their first semester, but the group included alumni from 2007 to 2012. Students came from Harvard Law, Cornell University, Rutgers University, New Jersey Institute of Technology, University of the Sciences, University of Miami, Rider University, Johnson & Wales University, Fordham University, Monmouth University, and Kean University as well as a student currently doing a Gap Year who will start Amherst College in the fall and a professional dancer who is attending college concurrently. Administrators and Guidance Counselors appreciated the reinforcement of messages they have been giving all year. Hearing the same message from peers made it more likely to sink in.

RAHWAY GARDEN CLUB

Established May 2010, the Rahway Garden Club (RGC) meets at the Rahway Public Library on the third Thursday of every month (except December, July & August) from 7 PM to 8:30 PM. You can usually find us in the back meeting room behind the computer area.

Your local garden club is a great way to learn more about gardening, exchange ideas, ask questions, hear speakers and meet other RGC members that live in your area. The RGC is organized under the umbrella group of the 'New Jersey Garden Club'.

Even a young club such as ours brings together people with their own love of gardening and personal experience. Recent topics have included: propagation, houseplants, overwintering and water barrels to name a few. You might be surprised how much you know and can share with others. Personal experience is the best teacher.

This year, some members of the RGC have begun to reach out to our community. In early May, they manned a table at the first annual 'RAHWA Y DAY'. One member started dozens of marigolds which she planted with children to take home. You can imagine how much everybody enjoyed that activity. We also took a vote to name the 'Flower of Rahway'. Keeping things simple, even the youngest child was able to join in. The winner is the native orange 'Turks Cap Lily'.

RGC also started its first community project. Across from the Union County Arts Center on Irving Street is the small neighborhood 'Arts Parks'. In May members planted flowers, watered and cared for them throughout the summer, planted mums in autumn, and then decorated the garden for the holidays. Projects like this brighten Rahway for folks visiting or simply driving by.

Garden clubs give citizens a wonderful opportunity to meet and socialize with folk that have a common interest. After all, gardening is one of the most popular hobbies in our country.

If you have a passion for gardening, come visit us. Meetings are open to the public. You might even decide to become the newest member.

The RGC will next meet on Thursday, February 21st at the Rahway Library. For more information write to Jkeane54@aol.com. (Subject: Rahway Garden Club)

On November 28th 2012 The Rahway Police Auxiliary's 6th Annual Coat Drive was completed with the gracious assistance of local business Darion Fashion who has been a partner in this project since its inception.

For the past 6 years The Rahway Police Auxiliary has donated brand new coats to local groups in the Rahway Community. This year Oasis Church of Rahway, Ebenezer AME Church, and Holy Mountain Church received new coats for members of their parish who needed just a little bit extra help this holiday season.

The Rahway Auxiliary Police is a volunteer organization that supplements the men and women of The Rahway Police Department. For more information on the Rahway Auxiliary Police Program please call Detective William Eicholz at (732) 827-2079.

Festival evolves out of contemporary church film movement

The Churches Making Movies Christian Film Festival today announced that it is accepting film entries for its festival slated for October 11-13, 2013 in the Rahway Arts District. The film festival, in its inaugural year, is devoted mainly to exhibiting films in all genres made by producing and media ministries, Christian organizations, and pastors. The festival is an extension of the contemporary church film movement that has risen during the last decade.

"Increasingly, churches are utilizing films to create hope and to transform hearts and minds across geographic boundaries. The festival is a platform for these films," said LaVonne McIver-James, festival founder.

THE MOVEMENT

Churches that make movies are a part of a cultural movement of churches harnessing the power of films to impact culture. For instance, the movie Courageous which challenges men to be good fathers, has had a profound impact on men across the United States. It is produced by Sherwood Pictures, a ministry of Sherwood Baptist Church. To Save a Life, a gripping teen drama is an outreach project of California's New Song Community Church. The movie The Grace Card examines healing broken relationships by receiving God's grace. It is backed by The Calvary Church of the Nazarene in Cordova, Tennessee. This culture-impacting movement is fueled by pastors, Christian organizations, and media/producing ministries using faithful filmmaking to transform hearts and minds. Increasingly, churches are seeking to bring the good news of Jesus Christ to the world through films because movies have a powerful effect on people and have perhaps the greatest potential to influence culture.

THE FESTIVAL

The mission of the Churches Making Movies Christian Film Festival is to educate, energize, and empower churches to incorporate filmmaking into their ministries and to give exposure to the best in church-based films. In addition to movie screenings, the festival will offer seminars and panels for church leaders, directors, producers, actors and those interested in utilizing films as a Christian evangelical tool. The goal of the festival is to empower churches and their members to make movies that move mountains and inspire generations.

"We seek movies that depict thought-provoking stories that create meaningful conversations and spark understanding across generations, races, and cultures," said McIver-James.

Festival screenings will include movies that demonstrate Biblical concepts in entertaining ways and create a deeper understanding for people regarding their purpose and destiny in life. As 2012 winds down and we sit on the cusp of 2013, it's only natural to take stock of events great and small. In terms of large, dramatic happenings, 2012 was a momentous year (the presidential election), a trying year (Superstorm Sandy), and a troubling one as well (the Sandy Hook massacre). In smaller, happier terms, 2012 was a very good year for the Friends of the Rahway Public Library. We ran the largest number of fundraising and community events since the group was relaunched in 2010, and happily, we also attained our greatest level of financial achievement!

Our annual book sale in April was our most successful so far, with a steady stream of donations and strong attendance over the 4 days of the sale. We will be running this event once again in April, and donations are being accepted already at the library. (We will take books, CDs, DVDs, VHS tapes and more; full details on what is and what is not acceptable are forthcoming, as are general details on the sale.)

In May, we partnered with the Rahway Chamber of Commerce in their Rahway

Community Day, an event designed to introduce the community to the municipal government, the library, and the many businesses and services available to residents. The Friends contributed the Race Around Rahway to this day, which helped introduce participants to various landmarks around the city during a scavenger hunt. This event will be back in 2013 as well.

Most recently, we organized a progressive dinner in conjunction with 3 downtown restaurants. Ticketbuyers were treated to the various courses of a meal at 3 different restaurants. Part of the fun was getting to know other individuals as you walked from establishment to establishment. We had an overflow crowd, and thanks to the generous support of local businesses, this event proved to be the most rewarding fundraiser we've ever done!

We have taken great satisfaction in putting on these events, and we know from talking with attendees that they have had fun participating in them. Our greatest satisfaction is knowing that our work benefits a most worthy institution—our public library. If you would like to be part of this progressive, successful, and fun group, please join us. We're in the midst of our annual membership renewal, and it's a great way to kick off 2013!

"I WANTED TO RAISE MY FAMILY IN RAHWAY"

Written by Carmen Tyler McLendon, Broker/Branch Manager of Striker Realty, Rahway

When looking to relocate back to New Jersey, "We could have moved anywhere", said Gretchen Palka and Anis Jabbes, "but we wanted to raise our baby in Rahway around our family". Rahway is safe, family-friendly, and has a real community.

Their agent, Marianne Power of Striker Realty, toured with them on several nice houses within their price range. They fell in love with this cute home on Milton Blvd. and are already making it their own.

Welcome to Rahway! The Rahway Chamber of Commerce and the entire Rahway community wish you continued happiness in your new home.

(above, l-r) Anis and Gretchen felt Rahway had great eateries and businesses, it's close to everything, and like the new Arts District.

Look to a Comprehensive Cancer Center that is first to offer the latest technology...

Clarissa Henson, MD
Chair of Radiation Oncology

Look to Trinitas Comprehensive Cancer Center.

Being first with ground breaking technology is a hallmark of Trinitas Comprehensive Cancer Center, which was the first cancer center in New Jersey to provide patients with the Varian Trilogy radiation therapy system in 2005. Trilogy's ultra-precise robotics accurately tracks and adjusts for tumor movements at the moment of treatment, then targets cancer and neurological lesions with sub-millimeter accuracy. No other facility in New Jersey has more experience with Varian Trilogy than Trinitas.

Trinitas was also the first in New Jersey to offer women the new Accublast radiotherapy technology – a highly effective, non-invasive treatment for breast cancer that is more accurate than standard breast radiotherapy. In addition, Trinitas is a leader in radiosurgery – which uses precisely-focused beams of radiation to treat tumors anywhere in the body.

Ground breaking technology, and the expertise to use it - that's the Trinitas Comprehensive Cancer Center.
