CHAMBER MEETS WITH GREAT SUCCESS, GROWING INTEREST

It wasn't too early in the day for over fifty people that came to participate or listen to the September general meeting of the Rahway Chamber of Commerce. The meeting was held 8:30a.m. at the Masonic Lodge on Irving Street on September 23rd. The message from guest speaker Ed Yergalonis, Superintendent of Schools, was that he was expecting high accomplishments academically from his students and teachers. The Chamber also kicked off its fall membership drive and announced upcoming elections in January of officers and directors. Special presentations were also made by Arthur Macaspac on the opening of his business Chessmates and Captain Mike Brothers of the Rahway Fire Department on fire safety. David Ginfrida of Ginfrida Home Improvement spoke of his company's "Community Counts" philanthropic efforts and the many organizations that are being helped through his company's generosity.

(above) People representing local business, organizations, public service agencies and residents filled the Masonic Temple meeting room for the Chamber meeting.

SPECIAL CENTER SPREAD: PULL-OUT FEATURING RAHWAY MEETING & EATING DIRECTORY

The Rahway Chamber of Commerce has created a directory of food service and catering businesses in Rahway. The directory lists 93 businesses and organizations that offer everything from a hot dog in the pack to rental halls for weddings.

Maybe it's a Sunday morning breakfast or maybe a fancy sit down meal or just maybe a great pizza and a glass of beer. Our town has it all from gourmet ice cream to planning a holiday party for your organization.

The directory is a handy keepsake for people who have to plan a party or organize a meeting for work.

The Chamber recommends residents and businesses stay local and support Rahway's hardworking restaurateurs! Please check these guys out first before you make plans outside our town. For parties big and small!

Vote November 2nd

Residents will vote for new mayor and council members.

Message from the Chairman

AFTER YOU VOTE...THEN WHAT!

Election Day in Rahway is drawing near. Tuesday, November 2nd. It happens to also be my birthday as well as All Souls' Day within the Catholic Church. If you haven't registered to vote go out and do so. Voting is easier than ever in fact you can enroll in New Jersey's Vote from Home www.state.nj.us/state/elections/mail-in_doe.html. Most importantly, give thought to the candidates and the issues facing Rahway, Union County, New Jersey and our country. Maybe we can all pause for some quiet time, put our feet up on the old stool and ask for wisdom from on high to guide us. Of course that might direct us to giving up a party allegiance on a few of our selections but to me that could be a very good thing for us.

After the results are in and we have our newly elected officials then what? Too many stand back from the process and wait for the next election and pray that things are going to change and get better. This probably won't happen unless more of us stay involved by remaining active after the elections in the party of our choice and the community organizations and churches that support our beliefs and values. It's time to help make our country stronger and healthier by taking back control from the few and return it to you and me, the people. Remember...this is our town and our country...not theirs. Stay involved!

Sincerely,

Bob Markey

MULCH THOSE LEAVES

Save tax dollars, help your lawns and gardens and the environment!

Rather than going through all the trouble of putting those fallen leaves out to the curb why not run them through your lawnmower. Rotary type mowers can make fast work of the leaves by finely chopping them up and if you run the mower over your lawn once or twice you're probably done. The small leftover leaf bits will quickly decompose and enrich your lawn or garden soils. Just think of the cost savings to Rahway taxpayers if only 20% of our town didn't put leaves out for pickup this fall. And not the least, just consider the benefit to our environment!

HOME IMPROVEMENT LOANS

City of Rahway is offering qualified homeowners may be eligible for low-interest or 0% interest deferred loans, up to $25,000.

Repairs may include - new roofs, windows, bathrooms, kitchens, heating, siding, painting, etc.

Call (732) 827-2193 for an application.

LEAF COLLECTION BEGINS NOVEMBER 3

Rahway leaf collection season will begin on November 3 and will run through the end of the year. Starting November 3, leaves should be placed in piles along the curb or placed in biodegradable paper leaf bags available at most hardware stores. Leaves placed in plastic bags or trash cans will not be collected. Please call the city's leaf hotline at (732) 827-2063 during leaf collection season to learn where DPW crews will be working that day.

NORTHFIELD NAMED TO FORBES "MOST TRUSTWORTHY COMPANIES"

Northfield Bancorp, Inc. (Nasdaq:NFBK), the holding company for Northfield Bank, was named among the top "Most Trustworthy Companies" in a list compiled for Forbes by Audit Integrity, a Los Angeles-based independent financial analytics firm.

Audit Integrity looks beyond the raw data reported in companies' income statements and balance sheets to more than 100 factors that help it assess the true quality of corporate accounting and management practices. Using its Accounting & Governance Risk (AGR) rating, Audit Integrity assigns scores based on a company's accounting and management practices to rank companies on trustworthiness.

We are honored to be recognized by Forbes and to be included on the list of most trustworthy companies," stated John Alexander, Chairman and CEO of Northfield Bancorp, Inc. NEXUS NJ: THE 2010 NJ JURIED ART EXHIBIT

October 15- November 4, 2010 • Reception: Sunday October 17 1-4 pm

From 1999-2008, Arts Guild New Jersey presented "Celebrating Excellence" an exhibit which featured artists from our home area - Union County, New Jersey. Our audience, however, spans the counties in the North and Central New Jersey area and we have expanded the scope of the exhibit this year to be open to all artists who either live or work in this state.

Too many people seem to think that great art in the Eastern U.S. only can be found in New York City, where, granted, many of the notable contemporary artists are represented by some of the best galleries in the country, if not the world. We believe that the talent of New Jersey artists is underrated, undervalued and not considered to live up to the standards of the Big Apple.

During the course of each year, in order to organize the art exhibits we present, it is necessary to review a LOT of art by a LOT of people, and we have found, without exception that the art we have come across that is created by New Jersey artists can be every bit as innovative, technically excellent and insightful as artwork found anywhere else - including New York City. During our past season (2009-2010) we featured dynamic artworks by no fewer than 100 artists and nearly 70% of those artists were from this state.

NEXUS NJ is a celebration of the work of New Jersey artists.

PEP RALLY WOWS THEM!

On Friday, September 17, Rahway High School held its first pep rally of the year. The pep rally, organized by Rahway High School physical education teacher and cheerleading coach Maria Capriglione, generated school spirit in support of fall athletics and brought together students and athletes of all grade levels.

RECORD-BREAKING SENIOR TRACK/CROSS COUNTRY STAR

Jeremy Antivo being scouted by several colleges

After a long summer of running 60-70 miles a week, most cross country runners are anxious to compete. Such is the case with Rahway senior Jeremy Antivo. "We train so hard all summer long, through blood, sweat and tears. The constant running just makes you hungry to see what you can do in a race," says Antivo, who begins his 2010-2011 campaign on the right track, breaking yet another Rahway record at the St. Dominic Academy Invitational in Jersey City. Antivo ran a school record 17 minutes 4 seconds on the 3.38 mile course, slightly longer than the typical 3.1 mile course layout, to lead Rahway to a fifth place finish.

"We wanted to place much higher, but it didn't happen for us today", says senior captain Luke Harper, who finished in eleventh place. "However, we had some strong performances from our young runners and we know we will make a statement this year that Rahway is not just a strong program on the track, but we are serious contenders in cross country as well. "We had a strong start to our season. We have big dreams and greater expectations, so we certainly aren't satisfied," says distance coach Leon Bunion. "The guys will continue to work hard and follow the plan for success that has been mapped out and I'm confident we will reach our goals. Jeremy had a great day and he is certainly on his way to possibly the greatest season by a Rahway cross country runner. It is important that he stays focused and follows the plan."

Antivo's current college recruitment prospects include Syracuse, Georgetown, American University, Rider and Penn State.

Rahway's Land, Air, and Water

CAN YOU BELIEVE THE BEAUTY OF THIS RAHWAY ELM?

Submitted by James Lynch of River Road NJ Certified Tree Expert

(above) River Road resident Jim Lynch, Rahway's most notable naturalist and tree expert, stands under the magnificent elm tree located at Berzinec Park on the corner of Central and St. Georges Avenues.

A better translation of Rahway's name is probably "Rahwack" a Lenni Lenape native term meaning "the center of the forest" and if accurate Rahway must have been a real shady place in those days. Not long after the towns were cleared for commerce, farms and homes, the settlers starting missing their shade trees and went about planting along their streets and avenues to recapture that pleasant feeling of not roasting in the sun! It's time for this generation to put the "shade" back in shade trees. Too often little popsicles are planted along our streets that although look pretty nice aren't anything like those shade trees of olde particularly that fantastic American elm! The elms are the royalty of shade trees both here and in Europe but none matched the American elm for beauty.

Where I grew up on Wyoming Avenue in Elizabeth the canopy tops of the trees were knotted together like an umbrella so I would hardly break a sweat while delivering newspapers along that wonderful shady avenue. Then one day it seemed they were all gone; the Dutch elm disease blew in and for a year all I heard was the whine of those chain saws. Elms and some of their disease resistant varieties and cousins have to be part of a diverse planting to ensure that if hit by a blight all the trees in a community aren't eliminated in one fell swoop! Rahway historically probably had as many American elms and their close cousins the Slippery elms as anywhere maybe in the USA. That was due to the large amount of floodplain and river bottom soils that occur in Rahway and is the American elm's favorite habitat. Sadly nearly all Rahway's elms have succumbed to the ongoing blight with a few remaining along some of our floodplains. These trees after resisting this disease for now close to ninety years should have their seedlings replanted as they are definitely tough. One fantastic example and there are a few, is in the old library park on Central Avenue by the bocce court. As majestic and serene a tree as I'm sure inspired Joyce Kilmer's famous poem. Another Slippery sits astride the field house at the high school ball fields; and a few nice trees are along River Road in the back yards. A few years ago some "Princeton" American elms were planted in front of city hall along Milton Avenue and some very disease resistant "Parifolia" elms were planted along Leesville Ave; slower growing they do have the wonderful umbrella shape of the American elms. I think the big lesson to take from the American elm story is that streetscapes must be diverse to resist disease and loss. Also, we need to put the right tree in the right place an old admonition that still is very true. Downtown large trees don't make sense except in the pocket parks and large right of ways. Residents should always be consulted as to variety as someone with a garden or pool will not appreciate the loss of sunlight; but where there is room a "Shade" tree that makes shade for all should be the choice. Nothing does more to make a town a "hometown" than its trees.

DENNY GRAPEFRUITSEED: A LITTLE TLC GOES A LONG WAY!

We've all heard of Johnny Appleseed but did you know that we have a Denny Grapefruitseed right here in Rahway? Our own Dennis Kirk of Price Street has been the proud caregiver to a lovely grapefruit tree sown by his own hand over 53 years ago.

It all started when 8 year old Dennis was sitting at his kitchen table eating a grapefruit, telling his father about a science project he needed for school. As his dad watched him spit out the seeds he got the idea, "Why don't you just take one of those grapefruit seeds, dry it out and stick it in a little pot with some dirt?"

And that's just what young Denny did. After a few weeks of tending, "a little green thing popped out of the dirt!" He was so excited, he had never grown anything before. After the science fair, Denny took the plant home and watered it as it kept requiring larger and larger pots, until now, when that very grapefruit shoot stands over seven feet tall and weighs a hefty 80 lbs!

The grapefruit tree sits on a wheeled platform outside from spring until the neighborhood leaves start changing color. That's when Dennis wheels it back into the house and parks it in its own little light-filled porch next to the back door. "If I catch it right, it'll retain its leaves throughout the winter," says Dennis. "I can tell when spring is about to arrive because it starts to put out new sprouts on the existing branches."

While his lifelong friend doesn't have a name, Dennis is convinced it's a female ever since he followed a sweet perfume scent to her room and discovered she had borne one perfect little flower. He's right when he says, "A little TLC goes a long way."
