FOOD FOR FRIENDS HOLDS VOLUNTEER APPRECIATION DAY

Rahway Food For Friends celebrated their 1st Annual Volunteer Appreciation Day on June 28th in Hart Street Park, Rahway. The day-long event honored volunteers past and present, for all the laboring in love they have extended to the homeless, needy and hungry through their ministry to Rahway Food For Friends.

For 20 years the organization has had many hard working and dedicated volunteers who keep the organization running. Rahway Food For Friends is an interfaith non-profit 501(c) 3 organization located in the heart of Rahway.

The pantry food distribution program operates on a monthly basis, usually on the last week of each month from their headquarters located at 1221 New Brunswick Ave. (corner of Main Street). Over 200 bags of food are packed and distributed to qualified Rahway residents (registration and screening is necessary).

They also operate a weekly Saturday soup kitchen at their second location: 1st Presbyterian Church located at 1731 Church Street (corner of W. Grand Avenue). The soup kitchen, which started in 1991, presently serves a full nutritious meal from 11 am – 1 pm.

Holiday programs include a traditional Thanksgiving day dinner with all the trimmings, and a Christmas buffet dinner complete with gifts and a visit from Santa during the season.

Continuing changes in rules for public assistance for people in crisis, lack of employment and the current economic situation has put a great burden of demands on the organization.

Anyone interested in being a part of Rahway Food For Friends as an active volunteer, or wishing to donate non-perishable food, kitchen supplies or to make a tax deductible monetary donation, please contact 732-381-7201 or email rahwayfoodforfriends@yahoo.com.

Checks can be made payable to and mailed:

Rahway Food For Friends, Inc.,
P.O. Box 1882, Rahway, NJ 07065.

For Sponsors, business packets are available upon request. For more information please visit www.rahwayfoodforfriendsnj.org.

7 THINGS YOU MUST KNOW BEFORE PUTTING YOUR HOME UP FOR SALE

Rahway NJ - A new report has just been released which reveals 7 costly mistakes that most homeowners make when selling their home, and a 9 Step System that can help you sell your home fast and for the most amount of money.

This industry report shows clearly how the traditional ways of selling homes have become increasingly less and less effective in today's market.

The fact of the matter is that fully three quarters of homesellers don't get what they want for their homes and become disillusioned and - worse - financially disadvantaged when they put their homes on the market.

As this report uncovers, most homesellers make 7 deadly mistakes that cost them literally thousands of dollars. The good news is that each and every one of these mistakes is entirely preventable. In answer to this issue, industry insiders have prepared a free special report entitled "The 9 Step System to Get Your Home Sold Fast and For Top Dollar".

To order a FREE Special Report, visit www.njhomesellermistakes.com or to hear a brief recorded message about how to order your FREE copy of this report call toll-free 1-888-243-5861 and enter 1000. You can call any time, 24 hours a day, 7 days a week.

STREET NAMES OFFER A GLIMPSE OF LOCAL HISTORY

Submitted by Al Shipley, City historian and Rahway Library Research Consultant

There's a song from the musical "My Fair Lady" which includes the lyrics, "I have often walked down this street before..." Undoubtedly, we've all walked down many of Rahway's tree-lined thoroughfares, and yet I'd wager only a few of us have ever stopped to wonder for whom the streets were named. The following small sample indicates that the citizens of Rahway who came before us, had a deep interest and pride in our city's, as well as our country's, rich history when they were naming their roadways.

We have nine streets named after Presidents: Washington St., Adams St., Jefferson Ave., Madison Ave., Monroe St., Jackson Ave., Harrison St., Pierce St., and Lincoln Ave. St. Georges Ave. was also named to honor George Washington, Commander of the Continental Army during the Revolutionary War and our first president, who was revered as a saint by the fledgling nation.

In July of 1776 fifty-six patriots signed the Declaration of Independence. Five of the fifty-six were delegates who represented the New Jersey colony. One-hundred years later, during the centennial celebration of the signing of America's most famous document, Rahway paid tribute to the five Jersey signers by naming streets after them. Traveling east on Hazelwood Ave. from Lawrence St. to the Carteret line, one will pass (Abraham) Clark St., (Richard) Stockton St., (John) Witherspoon St., (Francis) Hopkinson St., and (John) Hart St.

Five streets are named after famous literary figures. Bryant St. is named for William Cullen Bryant, considered the father of American poetry. In 1859, Second St. was changed to Irving St. in honor of America's first short story writer, Washington Irving. Whittier St. takes its name from the early American poet, John Greenleaf Whittier. Milton Ave. is named for the great English poet John Milton. In the 1930s, Commerce St. was changed to Emerson Ave. after the nineteenth century essayist and philosopher Ralph Waldo Emerson.

After World War II, it became an official practice in Rahway to name any newly constructed street after servicemen who were killed in war. To date, forty-two streets have been named for men lost during World War (above) This early postcard, post marked 1915, shows the triangle at West Milton Avenue and Commerce Street. In 1935, Commerce St. became Emerson Ave. Over the decades, a number of Rahway streets were given name changes.

II, Korea and Vietnam. Streets honoring these soldiers include (WWII) - Apgar Ter., Barry Ct., Baumann Ct., Billy Ct., Booth Ct., Brady Ct., Capobianco Plaza, Connor Pl., De Sisto Dr., Dietz Ct., Falesky St., Farrell Ter., Greslin Ter., Haberle Pl., Harris Dr., Heaton Pl., Hedin Pl., Hulick Pl., Jensen Ave., Jowett Pl., Keller Pl., Kmak Pl., Knapp Dr., Lentz Ct., Rayhon Ter., Revoir Dr., Riffle Ave., Rodgers Ct., Stacy Pl., Sullivan Ct., Ward Dr., Whelan Pl., (Korea) - Kanski Ct., (Vietnam) - Barnhart Ln., Danchetz Ln., DiAntonio Dr., Felver Ct., Genovese Ln., Kaminski Dr., Moses Dr., Stalevicz Ln. and Young Dr.

The city is filled with many more streets named for everything from important people, to geographic references, to local property owners, to the variety of tree common to the area. Interesting history can be found all around – even on the street where you live.

TEACHER WINS MULTIPLE ACCOLADES FOR HOLOCAUST EDUCATION

(above) Debra Maller, who received the Margrit Feldman Teaching Award with Julie Feldman, Magrit Feldman, and David C. Hespe, Acting Commissioner of Education for the State of New Jersey.

Rahway High School's Debra Maller was recently awarded the Margrit Feldman Teaching Award, established by the Feldman family and the New Jersey Commission on Holocaust Education to honor of Margrit Feldman, a survivor of the Holocaust who taught children about her experience for over 30 years and educated students about the importance of being an "upstander" who doesn't let the bully prevail. Maller's award was presented on June 11 at the New Jersey State Department of Education. Magrit Feldman was the first survivor of the Holocaust to speak at Rahway High School in 2001.

On March 21, Ms. Maller was also recognized at Kean University on March 21 as Outstanding Human Rights Educator. This award honors the valuable contributions she has made to increase awareness and advancement of human rights. She was presented with this award during the seventh annual Human Rights Conference, "Out of the Ashes: Rebuilding Lives and Communities Postwar."

When Maller was young, she met a man whose effect on her was significant to her continued learning about genocide. She says, "He was staring at me, and I got very nervous. Then he started to cry," she said. "He told us he was Jewish and that I reminded him of his sister who was killed during the Holocaust.

It taught me a lesson I've never forgotten: never to judge a person on their appearance."

Debra has completed the Kean University certification course in Holocaust and Genocide Studies and spent several summers studying in Germany, Poland, and in Israel at the museum of the Holocaust, Yad Vashem. Maller created her school's course on the literature of the Holocaust and genocides. This past year she brought Allan Farkas, a survivor of the Holocaust to meet her students and has Skyped in class with survivor Peter Feigl. She also serves on the executive board of the university's Diversity Council. She co-sponsors the school's Multi-Ethnic Culture Club (MECC), which annually visits the Holocaust Museum in Washington, D.C. and has raised over $ 1,000 for solar stoves and schools for Sudanese refugees from genocide in Chad. This summer Maller will again travel and learn about genocide, this time to China where she will study the Nanking genocide and meet with "Comfort Women" survivors from World War II.

PERENNIALS

Talk to any gardener for 15 minutes and they will likely say 'perennial' more than once.

Simply put, 'PERENNIALS' are plants and flowers that come up year after year, often with just basic care. If you are reading this article chances are good you have a few, if not dozens of perennials in your garden already. Many of the common names are known to everyone: daylilies, mums, hosta and coneflowers to name a few.

There are a few rules to a good perennial garden. First is the right plant in the right place. Even though you can easily buy beautifully flowering plants in your local garden centers, you should not expect them to perform in following years if you do not plant correctly; that includes the right amount of sunlight, the correct soil amendments, and proper watering. Although we cannot control the rain, we can do our best when applying supplement watering.

Sunlight is a major requirement. Too little sun and a plant will flower poorly, too much light and you will burn its leaves. Proper soil will ensure the plants ability to absorb and utilize nutrients. Some plants thrive in average soil; basically your native soil with just a few amendments to loosen it so the roots can easily grow. Other plants such as hosta require a 'richer' soil with humus and chopped leaved added to it. Of course water is a necessity. The most common cause of many plant diseases is overwatering which leads to root rot. Over watering is not usually a problem with ferns which love plenty of water.

Finding the information is not as daunting as it might seem. A good local garden center will often have staff that will share their knowledge and are happy to be helpful. After all, they want to build trust so you will keep coming back year after year.

The label will also give you information. Just beware, when a plant label says it blooms all summer most perennials have a spectacular bloom period followed by few flowers afterwards.

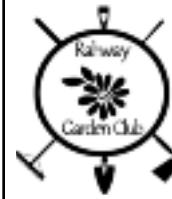

The internet is a good source of information as well as some videos on plant culture.

Most dependable are your friends, neighbors and your local Rutgers cooperative extension service. If you can join a group or club that will share information and exchange plants, all the better. Don't forget your local public library books are an incredible information.

Enjoy the summer and Happy Gardening, James

Colin Gittens

Donna Bode, the children's librarian at Rahway Library, pointed out that summer reading programs are a great way to keep children engaged in learning year round.

"We are so grateful that the Friends recognize the importance of the Children's Department in the Library and in the community," Ms. Bode said.

The programs at the library are designed to encourage even reluctant readers to have fun—and not just with books! Although the theme for this summer's program is science—which might seem to make reluctant readers even less likely to crack open a book—the library has arranged a winning schedule of events to help get readers over this hump.

For example, the program was kicked off on Wednesday, June 25, with a specially tailored program from mime extraordinaire Robert Rivest, who has been offering educational and inspirational programs for more than 20 years.

His Science in Motion! Program offered young readers an enthralling blend of comedy and science. Using mime, comedy, audience participation, and informative science tie-ins, the program pushed the audience to see science in a new light. For example, audience members had a chance to be part of a giant water cycle and to try out comic characters in various, hilarious science skits and to experience science kinetically.

As we have done over the past few years, the Friends of the Rahway Public Library are once again happy to lend support for children's summer reading programs at the library.

Although that program will have occurred by the time this appears, other portions of the reading program remain. Youth Stages will present Farmyard Follies on Wednesday, July 16, at 6:30 pm. This 45-minute show, intended for children ages 3-9, presents reimagined versions of classic animal-themed songs and stories. Children will make suggestions, act in pantomime, and sing along with familiar favorites (eg, Old MacDonald Had A Farm, B-I-N-G-O), stories (eg, The Three Little Pigs), and story-songs (There Was an Old Lady Who Swallowed a Fly).

To close out the summer reading program in a really sweet way, participants should mark their calendars for the Annual Baggy Ice Cream Party on Wednesday, August 6, at 6 pm. Attendees will make their own ice cream by mixing and shaking to the oldies, as well as getting their summer reading certificate at the party. A final inducement to read all summer long takes the shape of small prizes awarded based on the number of books read, and the Friends are proud to sponsor these prizes.

Please note these events on your calendar and have your child join in the community of young readers at the library.

WITTY'S KEEPS WINE FLOWING FOR LOCAL FUNDRAISER

The 1st Annual Wine, Cheese & Chocolate Party of the Year was a fundraiser for the Union County Performing Arts Center held on June 28th.

The event featured 25 wine stations donated by Rahway's Witty's Fine Wine & Liquors and Linden's Metro Liquors.

Chocolate was provided by Lindt Chocolate (master Swiss chocolatier since 1845), live music by Karickter, ice cream courtesy of Rahway's own Piece of Cake and a selection of international cheeses from local vendors.
