CROP WALK IS COMING

Take a walk to help fight Hunger and visit five churches

Get ready, get set, and get involved in this year's Crop Walk. The walk will take place on Sunday, October 26th. This event is a wonderful opportunity to help meet the needs of the hungry right here in Rahway as well as the hungry people all around our world.

An exciting opportunity has been added to this year's walk. The two-mile route will take walkers past five churches where walkers will be invited to enter each church to view the beautiful sanctuaries. Churches on the route will include Second Baptist, St. John the Baptist Russian Orthodox, First Presbyterian, Ebenezer African Methodist, and Trinity United Methodist.

Church World Service started the first Crop Walk more than sixty years ago to help the hungry and thirsty people around our world and in local communities. Twenty-five percent of the funds raised by the Rahway Crop Walk will be donated to "Food for Friends" a local organization who provides hot lunches on Saturdays at the First Presbyterian Church and prepares bags of groceries every month to distribute to those in need.

If you would like a walker's envelope or would like to be a sponsor, contact JoAnn Roesch @ jroesch@comcast.net or 908-380-2907. Walkers may also register with Rahway's Crop Walk on line at: www.cropwalkonline.com and then send everyone in their address book a request for a tax-deductible donation to this most worthy cause. Either way, it is easy for everyone to participate. Please prayerfully consider joining Rahway's Crop Walk on Sunday, October 26th.

11 CRITICAL HOME INSPECTION TRAPS TO BE AWARE OF WEEKS BEFORE LISTING YOUR HOME FOR SALE

Rahway NJ - According to industry experts, there are over 33 physical problems that will come under scrutiny during a home inspection when your home is for sale. A new report has been prepared which identifies the eleven most common of these problems, and what you should know about them before you list your home for sale.

Whether you own an old home or a brand new one, there are a number of things that can fall short of requirements during a home inspection. If not identified and dealt with, any of these 11 items could cost you dearly in terms of repair. That's why it's critical that you read this report before you list your home. If you wait until the building inspector flags these issues for you, you will almost certainly experience costly delays in the close of your home sale or, worse, turn prospective buyers away altogether. In most cases, you can make a reasonable pre-inspection yourself if you know what you're looking for, and knowing what you're looking for can help you prevent little problems from growing into costly and unmanageable ones.

To help homesellers deal with this issue before their homes are listed, a free report entitled "11 Things You Need to Know to Pass Your Home Inspection" has been compiled which explains the issues involved.

To order a FREE Special Report, visit www.njhomeinspectiontraps.com or To hear a brief recorded message about how to order your FREE copy of this report call toll-free 1-888-243-5861 and enter 1003. You can call any time, 24 hours a day, 7 days a week.

Get your free special report NOW to learn how to ensure a home inspection doesn't cost you the sale of your home.

DAFFODILS / NARCISSUS

Of all the beautiful spring flowering bulbs from early snowdrops to late blooming tulips, few are more dependable than the daffodils. For a reliable display you can count on year after year, these popular perennials will give you 'the big bang' for your time and money.

Once properly planted daffodils will come back for many years, blooming in early spring with very little care.

There is a long standing debate on the correct name, Narcissus, Daffodils or Jonquils. In this article I am simply going to use the most common name in our area, daffodils for all of them.

Trumpet shape flowers which begin to bloom in April, daffodils have a large selection of color patterns to choose from. The most popular yellow will brighten up any garden from the front door to large displays in back yards or even in open fields. In addition pure white flowers are available as well as mixed trumpets blends of two or three colors on the same flower.

Easy to plant, place the 'bottom' of the bulbs six inches in the ground, 5 to 6 " apart. They will fill in quickly.

In our clay soil and handful of chopped leaves will lighten the soil and help with drainage. If you don't have leaves take advantage of your neighbors who mow their leaves and put them on the street.

After daffodils have bloomed leave the green leaves until they turn yellow before cutting them back. These leaves will supply the energy for next year's bloom. One of the few drawback of daffodils is that these leaves will remain until early June. When planting my summer flowering plants, I simply push the greens aside and put the new flowers between them. They quickly over grow the yellowing leaves and

One of the few yearly tasks you should do to help your daffodils remain viable is to cut off the dead flowers after they have bloomed. This will force the bulbs to transfer major energy from setting seeds into producing next year's flowers and a healthier bulb to survive the winter.

If your flowers begin to dwindle it's time to dig up the bulbs and divide them. This should only be required once every ten years.

*Happy Gardening,
James*

ISABEL IRVING: THE LEADING LADY

OUR TOWN Rahway • Page 9 • October 2014

Submitted by Al Shipley, City Historian and Rahway Library Research Consultant

Isabel Irving, an actress who appeared in thirty-three stage productions during a career that spanned fifty years (1886-1936), spent a good portion of her life at "Mill Stones," a quaint, rambling farmhouse just off the Rahway River. A contemporary of Augustine Daly, Ada Rehan, Daniel Frohman, Georgia Cayvan and Maude Adams, Ms. Irving starred on the stages in this country and abroad.

Born on February 28, 1871 in Bridgeport, Connecticut, she made her first appearance at the Standard Theater in New York City as Ermytrude Johnson in "The School Mistress" on December 7, 1886. The following season she was engaged by the Augstine Daly Company where she remained for the next six years. Some of her parts included Oberon in "A Midsummer Night's Dream," Audrey in "As You Like It," and Helen in "The Hunchback."

Throughout her heavy schedule, Ms. Irving always found peace at her country home in Rahway. In 1889 she said, "I love this little spot, for it has been my haven of rest for almost ten years. We come, we go, just as the caprice moves us. One of the charms of our little country home is that it is free from all responsibility. We want to take a trip to Europe? We turn the key in the old door and off we go. When we return to the old place, the very chairs and tables, and even our old, torn schoolbooks, seem to extend hands of welcome."

While in Europe, she worked under Daniel Frohman in the London theaters and played the Vaudeville Theater in Paris. Her first appearance on the London stage was at the Lyceum Theater in 1890 where she played Daisy in "Nancy and Company." At the Vaudeville she appeared in Ada Rehan's part of Jo in "Lottery of Love."

In the late 1890s, she became the leading lady with Frohman's company at the Lyceum, New York, upon the retirement of Georgia Cayvan. "The Amazons," "A Woman's Silence," and "The Prisoner of Zenda" were a few of the plays in which she starred. The young Rahway girl, who had a "a voice full of melody and blue eyes full of visions," later succeeded Maude Adams as the leading lady in John Drew's Company at the Empire Theater, New York. She also starred in "The Crisis," under the management of James K. Hackett, played Louise in the all-star cast of "The Two Orphans," and starred in "The Girl Who Has Everything," under the management of Liebler and Company.

The latter play was perfectly suited for Ms. Irving. She was beautiful, gentle, graceful, a leading lady of distinguished ability, and a woman of deep thought. An English critic once characterized her as "a dainty rogue in porcelain." It is little wonder that her neighbors would walk down the dusty road to "Mill Stones" bringing 'humble offerings of some kind, carefully tucked away in the corner of their market baskets.' The townspeople referred to "Mill Stones" as "Miss Isabel's house," and to the great pine tree or the lawn as "Miss Isabel's pine tree." She was the most famous celebrity in town; she was Rahway's leading lady.

(above) Isabel Irving starred on the stages in this country and abroad in the late 1800's. Her country home was located in Rahway. It was called Millstones.

COUNTY DAY OF PRAYER DRAWS HUNDREDS

It was a message of communication, inclusion and commitment to community for the good of the community – of treating others with caring and holding those who do not accountable.

The Union County Day of Prayer, held Thursday, Sept. 18, at the First United Methodist Church in Westfield, drew hundreds to hear those messages, as delivered by a slate of leaders from houses of worship from throughout Union County and the nonprofit community.

The Day of Prayer, the first of a planned annual celebration, was an interfaith gathering of the faith-based, nonprofit and government communities to unite people from throughout the county regardless of race, religion or disability and to bring greater awareness of the support services available to them, according to Sid Blanchard, executive director of Community Access Unlimited (CAU).

CAU provides support programs and services to people with disabilities and youth served under the Department of Children and Families (DCF) to enable them to live independently in the community, in areas including housing, vocational and life-skills training, education, advocacy and recreation.

The event was sponsored by the Union County Interfaith Coordinating Committee Council, an organization comprising 40 interfaith congregations and community-based nonprofits, including CAU, the driving force behind creation of the council. The council was formed to promote inclusion of all people within the community, without regard to race, religion or disability, and to create a clearing house of faith-based, nonprofit and government community services available to the public, according to Blanchard.

"Being part of the community is a full-time job and the steering committee and members of the Interfaith Council are bringing important services to the community," said Blanchard, who cited information about employment opportunities, the entitlements – including support for seniors, children and families with members with special needs – and record expungement programs.

"Our mission at Community Access is for our members to live fulfilling lives within the community," he said. "But in order for there to be a community, there needs to be a cohesive and caring community of people. We hope tonight inspires others to talk to each other and put their caring into action."

The theme of the evening was "The Ethics of Reciprocity – Your Faith, Your Golden Rule." Attendees heard multiple readings from the Bible and Koran and a panel discussion about what the reciprocity of faith, or Golden Rule, means within different faiths.

The panel discussion featured Imam Ali Jaaber of Masjid Darul Islam Mosque in Elizabeth; Sister Mary Carrington, vice president of missions and effectiveness at Trinitas Regional Medical Center and the Sisters of Charity of Saint Elizabeth; Pastor William Ingram of the Shiloh Baptist Church in Elizabeth; and Rev. L.L. DuBrevil of the Faith United Church of Christ in Union. Rev. Erica Crawford of the Ebenezer African Methodist Episcopal Church in Rahway served as the discussion facilitator.

Imam Ali Jaaber quoted from the Koran, saying, "We have made you tribes so you may know one another."

Sister Carrington said the Golden Rule "allows us to accept the process of change" for the better.

Rev. Ingram said, "There is more that unites us than separates us" and quoted from Martin Luther King Jr., who said, "We will either dwell together as brothers and sisters or we will perish."

Rev. DuBrevil said The Golden Rule Transcends all religions and cultures and that those who obey the rule must hold those who don't accountable for the good of the community.

"As people of faith, we're the ones who have to hold their feet to the fire," using education, advocacy, activism, legislation and judicial action, as said.

ABOUT CAU

Community Access Unlimited (CAU), celebrating its 35th anniversary, supports people with special needs in achieving real lives in the community. CAU provides support and gives a voice to adults and youth who traditionally have little support and no voice in society. CAU helps people with housing, life skills, employment, money management, socialization and civic activities. CAU also supports opportunities for advocacy through training in assertiveness, decision-making and civil rights. CAU serves more than 5,000 individuals each year. For more information about CAU and its services, contact us by phone at 908.354.3040, online at www.caunj.org or by mail at 80 West Grand Street, Elizabeth, NJ 07202.

Autumn is a busy time of year and that is true also for the Friends of the Library. First on our agenda is the Progressive Dinner on October 8th. The prospect of appetizers at Cubano, entrées at The Rail-House and desserts at Meatballs and Brews is inviting, especially when you get to dine with friends and meet new people while enjoying the food. By moving the date to early October, we are hoping to be able to take advantage of a pleasant, mild evening for our short strolls between restaurants. You can purchase tickets at the Library's Reference desk or by calling 732-822-2050.

Secondly, we will be participating in the third annual meeting of the Friends of the Libraries of Union County. Friends groups from various towns will spend a day at the Memorial Library in New Providence talking about how they can best benefit their libraries and communities, identify sources of funding and share their successes and ideas. They will also learn if the needs of their libraries and/or communities are unique or are part of a trend. As the media used for reading are expanding and readers have a choice of e-books on different devices as well as holding a hard cover book, the mission of libraries, and their various needs, may be changing as well.

Come November, we begin looking to our Membership Drive. We will be notifying you to join by letter, poster and any other means we can devise. We invite you all to join the Friends – we have a full slate of events in the coming months and welcome all hands. The week of October 19th - 25th is National Friends of the Libraries Week and we invite you to visit the library during that week to learn more about the Friends.

While we are hoping to say hello to new friends who choose to join our group, we have to say good-bye to an old friend. Donna Bode, Children's Librarian at Rahway Public Library since 2006, retired at the end of September. Miss D, as the children know her, is a warm, welcoming person, who made the children feel comfortable at the library, whether she was hosting a reading hour for toddlers or helping a young reader find his favorite superhero book. We want to say thank you and send her our best wishes for the future, wherever it leads her.
