RAHWAY BRANCH YMCA PARTNERS WITH JARDINE ACADEMY

The Gateway Family YMCA – Rahway Branch Provides Specialized Arts Programming. Lara Kennedy, Arts Director at The Gateway Family YMCA – Rahway Branch announced a partnership between the YMCA and Jardine Academy, with the YMCA providing specialized arts programming for the school. Jardine Academy is a school based from the Cerebral Palsy League in Cranford, NJ. The YMCA provided a 4 week specialized art program at the Rahway Branch, 1564 Irving Street, Rahway, NJ. "The program was a huge success, and we are hoping to continue to increase these types of collaborative programs here at the YMCA," stated Lara Kennedy, Arts Director. According to Rodger Koerber, Branch Executive Director, "The Gateway Family YMCA – Rahway Branch is excited to partner with local organizations and offer programs dedicated to the needs of the individuals they serve. Lara has extensive experience in the arts, including 11 years as an Arts Educator."

Through the collaboration, students were instructed on and participated in projects spanning the realm of visual arts, working hands-on to create artwork that is currently displayed in the Rahway Branch. The students created an acrylic painting based on the artworks of Sonia Delaunay. They looked at images of her work and modeled their paintings after her geometric style. They incorporated bold colors, geometric shapes and bold black outlines in order to replicate her style of painting. Students also made traditional arts and crafts for the summer to experience "summer camp"; They created a keychain, summer art pictures and name designs for their desks. The Gateway Family YMCA is a 501(c)(3) non-profit, health and community service organization of caring staff and volunteers dedicated to strengthening the foundations of community and stands For Youth Development, For Healthy Living and For Social Responsibility. The Gateway Family YMCA impacts the community by providing quality services to people of all ages, races, faith or incomes. The Y doesn't just strengthen bodies – it strengthens people, families and communities. For more information about community programs and services provided by The Gateway Family YMCA – Rahway Branch visit www.tgfymca.org or contact the Rahway Branch at Rahwayinfo@tgfymca.org or 732-388-0057.

YMCA WELCOMES LARA KENNEDY, ARTS DIRECTOR

In August The Gateway Family YMCA – Rahway Branch announced the addition of Lara Kennedy in the position of Arts Director. According to Rodger Koerber, Branch Executive Director, "The Gateway Family YMCA – Rahway Branch is excited to officially welcome Lara Kennedy as our Arts Director. Lara brings an expansive breadth of knowledge and experience in Arts education." Most recently, Lara was in the position of Arts Educator in private schools for children with special needs. Her previous experience includes 11 years as an arts educator.

Lara holds a Master's degree in Teaching: Art Education from Montclair State University and studied textile design at the Savannah College of Art and Design. When asked about her goals, Lara added, "We are designing a strong fall course selection in Arts programming. We have worked really hard to design a full range of offerings and I am really excited to expand our programs in Rahway."

The Rahway Branch recently completed a $3.4 million renovation project, which included additional Arts program space as well as the construction of five Artist Lofts. The fall program session begins August 31st. The Gateway Family YMCA – Rahway Branch fall program guide includes a varying array of Arts programming for all ages and is available online at www.tgfymca.org.

SUMMER CHANGES INTO AUTUMN

As summer turns into autumn, this is the perfect time to take notes of your summer garden and start planning for next year. Take a note pad and walk through your garden recording your favorite results as well as problems and disappointments.

Often problems occur when a plant is planted in the wrong place. A shade loving Hosta will burn its top leaves when it gets too much summer sun. On the other hand sun loving perennials will not flower well if they don't get enough sunlight. Many flowering perennials require six hours of sun a day to stay healthy and produce good flowers. This problem can be easily adjusted by simply moving these plants to a more suitable location. Record it now so you will be ready to replant them in April.

PROPAGATION BY DIVISION

Propagation by division is a quick way to multiply many perennials. Often plants require division in order to flower well. Daylilies are a great example. Dependable sun loving flowers for many years, you may notice them flowering less as time goes by. Dig up the root system and jiggle the root system apart. Then replant them about two feet apart and they will flourish again.

Hosta can be divided any time of the year, but I prefer to do it in early autumn. This way the new plants will come up looking beautiful in the spring. If divided in the spring the new plants will take all summer to fully recover and will not be as attractive. To divide Hosta lift them from the ground and cut the root ball with a sharp knife.

There is a wealth of information on when and how to divide your perennials. You can call Rutgers Cooperative Extension Garden Helpline of Union County at 908-654-9852 and they will tell or send you the information.

(above) President of The Rahway Garden Club, James Keane has been researching and answering garden questions since 1995. Visit 'Keane Gardener' blog at: keanegardener.blogspot.com

The Rahway Public Library has a good source of garden reference books with this information.

The internet is full of websites and even videos of how and when to propagate plants. As with everything on the internet choose your information well. Not all of it is dependable.

When you do divide and replant your plants be sure to supply the correct type of soil required. A Hosta will not do as well in poor sandy soil as it will in the recommended rich 'leafy' soil.

11 CRITICAL HOME INSPECTION TRAPS TO BE AWARE OF WEEKS BEFORE LISTING YOUR HOME FOR SALE

Rahway NJ - According to industry experts, there are over 33 physical problems that will come under scrutiny during a home inspection when your home is for sale. A new report has been prepared which identifies the eleven most common of these problems, and what you should know about them before you list your home for sale.

Whether you own an old home or a brand new one, there are a number of things that can fall short of requirements during a home inspection. If not identified and dealt with, any of these 11 items could cost you dearly in terms of repair. That's why it's critical that you read this report before you list your home. If you wait until the building inspector flags these issues for you, you will almost certainly experience costly delays in the close of your home sale or, worse, turn prospective buyers away altogether. In most cases, you can make a reasonable pre-inspection yourself if you know what you're looking for, and knowing what you're looking for can help you prevent little problems from growing into costly and unmanageable ones.

To help homesellers deal with this issue before their homes are listed, a free report entitled "11 Things You Need to Know to Pass Your Home Inspection" has been compiled which explains the issues involved.

To order a FREE Special Report, visit www.njhomeinspectiontraps.com or to hear a brief recorded message about how to order your FREE copy of this report call toll-free 1-888-243-5861 and enter 3000.

You can call any time, 24 hours a day, 7 days a week. Get your free special report NOW to learn how to ensure a home inspection doesn't cost you the sale of your home.

ST. JOHN'S CELEBRATES 100TH ANNIVERSARY: RUSSIAN ORTHODOX CHURCH EXEMPLIFIES RELIGIOUS DIVERSITY IN RAHWAY

Submitted by Al Shipley, City Historian and Rahway Library Research Consultant

Nothing characterizes the ethnic and racial composition of a city more than the diversity of the religious communities represented in that place. From the early days of Rahway's history, religious groups have always been a vital part of the city, so much so that by the mid-1800s Rahway was noted to have been called "The City of Churches." Today, the term might still apply. Traditional denominations including Presbyterian, Baptist, Roman Catholic, Episcopal, Methodist, and Lutheran are among the more than twenty-four religious groups active in the city. Other religions that are part of the rich tapestry are African Methodist Episcopal, Byzantine Catholic, Eastern Orthodox, Agape, Spanish and Korean 7th Day Adventist, Oasis Christian, and Jehovah Witness. One church that might illustrate this ethnic diversity is St. John the Baptist Russian Orthodox Church which this month will be celebrating its 100th anniversary in Rahway.

St. John's was canonically established in 1915 by a diverse group of Slavic Orthodox Christians, many families coming from regions under the control of the Austro-Hungarian Empire in present day Slovakia, Ukraine, Poland, and Belarus. In 1915, the worshiping community purchased an old German Lutheran church, built in the 1850s, that was located on West Grand Avenue. The building became available after the Lutheran congregation moved into a new sanctuary on Campbell Street. The first liturgy in the Russian church was served on February 12, 1916 by Reverend Stephen Sipaida.

During the next several years, many Eastern European elements were added to the original 19th century congregational- styled structure to create a traditional Orthodox temple. In 1918 a cupola was added and three high quality bronze bells were purchased and hung in the tower. By 1931, a two- tier Iconostasis had been completed and a carved canopy was raised over the altar. More progress was made when land for a cemetery was purchased in 1916 and by the mid-(above) St. John the Baptist Russian Orthodox Church will be celebrating its 100th anniversary in Rahway this month.

1920s a rectory was built on the corner of West Grand and Allen Street.

The women of the parish organized an Altar Guild in 1928 to aid the Priest and Church Board with the physical upkeep of the church and rectory. By the 1940s, a Sunday school was established with programs for both children and adults. It was during this time that English was introduced in the services for the benefit of the children and for those who were approaching the faith from the local community. Services are currently celebrated primarily in English, with some prayers and hymns in Church Slavonic.

By the late 1950s the one hundred year old structure was showing signs of its age and with the growing congregation bursting at the seams in the small church, a committee was formed to develop plans for a new sanctuary. Through a faithful commitment of stewardship, parish members labored long and hard and donated much to insure the success of their new church. Many fundraisers were held over the next decade including the popular pirohi making project which has endured the test of time and continues to the present. The result of the dedicated work was the construction of the present contemporary- styled temple which was completed in 1972. The most unique and recognizable feature of the church is the three onion-shaped domes which adorn the roof.

In 1985, a new modern rectory was built on the site of the old rectory which had been sold and moved onto the east side of Allen Street.

During the spring of 2003, over four acres of land adjacent to the church property was restored by the Union County Department of Parks and Recreation as a natural wetland and wildlife observation area. The park, now part of the Union County Parks system, is named in memory of Michael Bezega, a St. John's parishioner, who, while serving our country during the Vietnam War, was killed in action on June 22, 1970.

In preparation for the 100th anniversary, the church domes were refurbished and today glow in resplendent gold. According to Father Andrew Fetchina, pastor, "The domes may serve as a symbol of St. John's bright past and brilliant future which lies ahead in our congregation's "Life in Christ."

RAHWAY FIRE DEPARTMENT HONORS THEIR HEROES

The Rahway Fire department recently presented awards for three separate incidents which involved the saving of lives.

On June 19, 2014 Battalion Chief Clifford Schlosser Acting Captain Andrew Marchica, Firefighters Pete Fiore and James Thornton were dispatched to 230 E. Grand Ave. to help an unconscious female. Upon arrival the patient was not breathing. The Fire Fighters /EMT's immediately began CPR used their defibrillator and a heart rhythm was established and a life was saved. These four firefighters received the Rahway Fire Department's Unit Award for their actions.

On March 5, 2015 Captain Michael Sandhorst, Firefighter / Emt's Keith Ferriolo and Javier Gonzalez were dispatched on Eng # 3 to assist the First Aid Squad in gaining access to the residence. The dispatcher reported that the patient had extreme shortness of breath. The patient's condition rapidly declined and the Eng # 3's crew was asked to assist in the removal of the patient. The patient coded and firefighters Ferriolo and Gonzalez assisted the First Aid Squad and medics in CPR until a pulse was regained. Shortly after the patient again coded and CPR was re-initiated and a pulse was again re-gained. Firefighter Ferriolo rode in the back of the ambulance and once again performed CPR on the patient to resume a pulse. Captain Sandhorst Firefighters Ferriolo and Gonzalez received the Rahway Fire Department's Unit Award for their actions.

On April 5, 2015- Easter Sunday the duty crew was dispatched at 14:16 hours to 446 W. Grand Ave. (Korean United Methodist Church). There was a reported roof collapse and fire with victims trapped. Upon arrival it was a chaotic scene with numerous victims injured and/or traumatized. A very large section of the ceiling had collapsed in the church sitting area. Arriving companies were ordered by Incident Commander Battalion Chief Daryl Rutter to do a primary search which was negative. What was initially thought to be smoke was extreme dust from the ceiling collapse. Advanced Life Support and Basic Life Support task forces established a triage unit in which 13 people went to RWJ Hospital and 1 patient was transported to University Hospital in Newark. Eng # 5 's crew Capt. William Kiger, Firefighters Keith Ferriolo and Javier Gonzalez surveyed the area for additional hazards. Truck # 10's crew Acting Captain Scott McCarthy and Firefighter Gerald Vaughn secured the utilities and successfully shut off the electric and gas in the structure. Eng # 3's crew Acting Captain Richard Eger, firefighters Willard Jacobs and Jon Coyne established a water supply and stretched a hand line to the front door. For their heroic actions these Firefighters received the Rahway Fire Department's Unit Award.

AMERICAN REPERTORY BALLET HOLDS AUDITIONS FOR RAHWAY STUDENTS TO PERFORM IN NUTCRACKER

American Repertory Ballet, New Jersey's top professional ballet company, is returning to Rahway, NJ this year with performances by its professional dancers at Hamilton Stage and Union County Performing Arts Center and with educational opportunities in the Rahway School District. This year, in addition to its School Time Matinees and residency opportunities, American Repertory Ballet is holding auditions for Rahway residents to perform alongside its professional dancers in Nutcracker on Saturday, November 21 at 2:00pm at Union County Performing Arts Center (UCPAC).

Children will have the opportunity to audition for the role of the mice in ARB's Nutcracker. They will be part of the famous battle scene in the ballet, where the main character Clara dreams that tiny mice in her living room grow giant and take on the army of toy soldiers and the Nutcracker prince. American Repertory Ballet will engage 6 students in grades K through 2. Selection is by audition only. The audition will be held Saturday, October 3, 2015 from 2:00pm until 4:00pm at Rahway High School. There is no cost to audition or participate (if selected), other than modest wardrobe/make-up fees.

The mission of American Repertory Ballet (ARB) is "to bring the joy, beauty, artistry and discipline of classical and contemporary dance to New Jersey and nationwide audiences through public performances and to dance students through artistic and educational programs." This year's "Community Mice Initiative" aims at fulfilling this mission in an immersive way that will expose children to a professional environment and challenge them to achieve performance goals.

"We are thrilled to bring this opportunity to the children of Rahway," says Lisa Beth Vettoso, Director of Educational and Community Programming. "Rahway is an incredibly supportive and artistic community, and the 'Community Mice Initiative' offers local children not only an exciting performance opportunity, but also a wonderful, immersive learning experience with role models in the arts."

In a continuing effort to reach all types of audiences, ARB will also offer its first Sensory Friendly performance of Nutcracker on Sunday, November 22 at 1:00pm at UCPAC.

Before Nutcracker season, the professional, international dancers of American Repertory Ballet will present A Night of Dance on October 9 at 7:30pm at Hamilton Stage. This is a great opportunity for families to see the company perform works beyond Nutcracker and to meet the artistic staff. On April 1, 2016 at 7:30pm, ARB will return to Hamilton Stage with Spring into Dance.

YMCA HAS MORE CHOICES FOR BETTER HEALTH

The Gateway Family YMCA announces the expansion of health and wellness opportunities for members as part of a statewide membership reciprocity program. The statewide reciprocity program, titled "My Y, Your Y", provides Y members with access to over 50 participating YMCAs throughout New Jersey.

New Jersey YMCAs share a commitment to developing quality health and wellness opportunities for all and partnered to provide this unified membership reciprocity plan.

"By providing our members with more options to visit the YMCA facility that fits their life schedule, we hope to make it easier for our members to continue their health and wellness routines, provide more options to use their Y membership and lead a healthy life," stated Krystal R. Canady, CEO, The Gateway Family YMCA.

New Jersey YMCAs have been leveraging their collective impact through membership reciprocity since 2011, continually increasing wellness opportunities for members across the state. Through this program, YMCAs are providing increased accessibility to health and wellness resources at a member's own convenience, both locally and across the state. "My Y, Your Y" is an unprecedented step in strengthening the Ys impact on health and wellness in New Jersey," said Melynda A. Mileski, EVP/COO, The Gateway Family YMCA. A list of participating Ys is available on at www.tgfymca.org or www.njymca.org.

The unified New Jersey membership reciprocity plan is an addition to the national A.W.A.Y. (Always Welcome at YMCAs) program which allows access to YMCAs nationwide for a nominal fee. Similar reciprocity programs are in place in other regions of the Northeast.

AT-RISK YOUTH LEARN HOW TO DEFINE A BETTER FUTURE

Youth living within New Jersey's child welfare system may have experienced a hard past but today have the ability to define their future based on both their own choices and the resources the system makes available to them. That was the message delivered to more than 200 youth at the 2015 Annual Youth Conference held last week at L'Affaire Fine Catering in Mountainside.

The conference, sponsored by Community Access Unlimited (CAU), drew more than 150 youth from throughout the state's child welfare system as well as adults working to support them. CAU is a statewide Elizabeth-based nonprofit providing support programs and services to adults with disabilities as well as youth served under the Department of Children and Families (DCF) to enable them to live independently in the community, in areas including housing, vocational and life-skills training, education, advocacy and recreation.

Balign Johnson is a mentor, football coach and former correction officer and social worker who served as the keynote speaker. Johnson grew up in Cleveland, where his mother had two children by 17, was divorced by 21 and homeless with her children at 25. He told the audience he was surrounded by crime, drugs and prostitution and that the men and women of his neighborhood were not the sort of people he could see as role models.

Omar Anthony Carter, a former member of CAU, also spoke to the audience. He grew up in the Brick City section of Newark, was in foster care at 14 and experienced abuse, he told the audience. Today he works in security for global pharmaceutical company Allergan, is a singer, songwriter, dancer and actor and attends Kaplan University.

In addition to hearing the speakers, the youths in attendance participated in a number of workshops on subjects including how to be a responsible adult; harassment, intimidation and bullying; safe sex and sexual exploitation; maximizing the benefits of interaction with their staffs within their programs; and aging out of the system. The theme of the conference was "Youth Rise. Despite Adversities."

"The purpose of the conference is for youth from throughout the state to learn how to maximize the benefits they can get from the support being offered them," said Tana Owens, director of residential services at CAU.

Sid Blanchard, executive director of CAU, said, "In order to meet the needs of youth we have to hear from them what their needs are. That's part of our philosophy or working with young people and people with disabilities at CAU. You can't put together proper supports without their input. It's what we call, 'Nothing about them without them.'"

ABOUT CAU

Community Access Unlimited (CAU), celebrating its 36th year of success in 2015, supports people with special needs in achieving real lives in the community. CAU provides support and gives a voice to adults and youth who traditionally have little support and no voice in society. CAU helps people with housing, life skills, employment, money management, socialization and civic activities. CAU also supports opportunities for advocacy through training in assertiveness, decision-making and civil rights. CAU serves more than 5,000 individuals each year.

For more information about CAU and its services, contact us by phone at 908.354.3040, online at www.caunj.org or by mail at 80 West Grand Street, Elizabeth, NJ 07202.

CHILD ADVOCATE TRAINING STARTS SEPTEMBER 29TH

CASA volunteers speak for foster children

When removed from her parents' care, three-year-old Alyssa was found underweight, dirty, and mostly grunted, cried or pointed to communicate; she even had been attempting to change her own diapers. When the foster mom tried to clean dirt from Alyssa's body and crust from her hair, the child was terrified of water. As the words "autism spectrum" and "developmental testing" were tossed around, the foster mom worked with Alyssa to improve communication and lessen tantrums, and introduced age-appropriate toys and books into her world.

Also about to enter Alyssa's world? Her CASA, the Court Appointed Special Advocate assigned by a Union County family court judge. Nearly 40 percent of children CASA of Union County has served this year alone entered care due to neglect, just like Alyssa, whose parents struggled with drug abuse. Armed with a court order, CASAs speak to all parties in the child's life: foster parents, doctors, caseworkers, therapists and teachers, and incorporate those findings, as well as observations from the CASA's own visits with the child, into reports for the judge. CASAs participate in court hearings and speak on the child's needs and best interests. For Alyssa, her CASA's advocacy included securing speech and occupational therapy, changed placement to a more age-appropriate special education class, and increased visitation with a caring grandparent.

Alyssa, now five, has tested out of special-needs interventions and this fall will walk through the doors of a mainstream kindergarten classroom. She is a bright and enthusiastic child who loves horses — and her CASA.

Why don't you walk through the doors of the next CASA training sessions and be the voice to change the life of one of the 542 Union County children in foster care?

Evening classes kick off on Tuesday, September 29, 2015, include dinner and are held in Westfield. Contact Lisa at (908) 527-7048 or lpbris@casaoofunioncounty.org for a full training schedule and details on claiming a seat in this next CASA of Union County class.

RENNA MEDIA LAUNCHES SEVEN NEW NEWSPAPERS

Beginning in October 2015 Renna Media's family of monthly newspapers will grow from 12 to 18 publications. The towns of Westfield, Scotch Plains, Fanwood, Summit, New Providence, Berkeley Heights, and Mountainside will join Renna Media's existing newspapers and will deliver important information from the departments in town hall, along with news from the schools and libraries. Community service organizations are encouraged to promote their events and celebrate their accomplishments free of charge. The goal of all our community newspapers is to have a positive influence on the economic development and overall well-being of the towns they serve.

Renna Media is a Cranford based business owned and operated by husband and wife team Joe and Tina Renna. Renna Media's family of 18 community newspapers are published in and around Union and Somerset counties with a total circulation of 100,000 newspapers mailed monthly. The publications are "hyper-local" in nature in that they contain information focused on each individual town and are direct mailed within those towns.

The concept of being hyper-local is to give local businesses a venue to promote events and services. Reaching local customers gives you the highest return for your advertising dollars. The newspapers are designed (black ink on newsprint) to keep the cost of an advertisement to as low as $60. Inserts are also available. Regional businesses can take advantage of one low rate for advertising in multi publications.

Joe and Tina Renna, owners of Renna Media, LLC, have been publishing community newspapers since 1998 with the launch of Around About Peterstown, a regional newspaper about the Italian-American neighborhood in Elizabeth, NJ.

Renna Media sought to fill what they saw as a void in other communities and created newspapers that would give a venue to town administrations and non-profit organizations to promote upcoming events as well as to showcase the accomplishments of local residents and businesses.

For more information about Renna Media publications, please call 908-418-5586 or email: info@rennamedia.com. Visit us on-line at RennaMedia.com.
