COMMUNITY GARDEN IS COMMUNITY CORNERSTONE

By: Edir Coronado

On a hot Saturday afternoon on September 10th, Rahway gardeners gathered around at the new Rahway garden located across the street from the JFK Community Center, in the Friendship Baptist Church lot, to celebrate the fruit of their labor. David Brown, Fourth Ward Municipal Council member had put together the city's second community garden, with the backing of the city's residents and Mr. Brown's colleagues. Master Gardener Debra Stuart had been invited to the garden by Mr. Brown in the spring of 2015, during which there were only 10 beds, one of which was rented out by Debra. In an effort to teach kids the importance of vegetation and gardening, Mr. Brown enlisted Debra to instruct the children how grow vegetables, flowers, and fruits. Debra was more than happy to oblige and after several meetings, in order to have the proper tools to teach the children, the gardeners had installed 30 additional beds. This allowed Debra to have an area to teach the children.

Mr. Brown chose the perfect person to teach the children, Debra has been a gardener since she was a child and has been exposed to gardens with vegetables and flowers throughout her entire childhood. She currently holds the title of Vice President of Rahway Garden Club and became a certified Master Gardener in 2015 as well as Master Tree Steward in 2015. Part of the reason Debra enjoys working in the garden and teaching children is because of what the garden itself encourages. When a person grows their own vegetation, it sparks their curiosity, prompting them to learn something about the plant, the insects, or possible diseases. Gardening also promotes community unity according to Debra. During her time at different community gardens, she has met many different gardeners and in those encounters they've shared each other's harvest, traded recipes, and tips on how to grow different plants.

The building of the garden itself helps bring people together because creating a garden takes a community effort. The carpenters who build the soil beds were from Kenilworth and supply donations came from local business around the City of Rahway. Debra express, "it is more than just the garden, it is a team of businesses and people working together." The success of the community garden has been great and there are hopes in building a new community garden. The more gardens that are created the more food citizens can grow for themselves, which would in turn supplement their food bill.

The children are just as excited as the adults about the new garden. Throughout the summer, these young gardeners have begun planting seedlings, learning about the importance of insects and how they pollinate the flowers, as well gained the appreciation for growing plants and flowers just to for their beauty. "The children have realized when they see the plants grow they have done something productive," expressed Debra.

Debra explains that without the Friendship Baptist Church, local businesses, UCMG Come grow with Us, and many others in the community the garden would've never happened.

If anyone would like more information about creating a community garden, they can contact The Master Gardeners of Union County by visiting mastergardeners-uc.org.

RHS GRADUATE CHRISTOPHER STRADFORD AWARDED SCHOLARSHIP

Recently a Rahway High School graduate, Christopher Stradford, was awarded a one-time $1,000 scholarship from the Raritan Americus Scholarship Committee sponsored by Lafayette Lodge #27, a Freemason lodge located in downtown Rahway. Mr. Stradford bested 13 other worthy candidates and will be attending St. Peters University in Jersey City this year. The young man was third in his class and a member of The National Honor Society, as well as The Math, Science, and Music National Honor Societies. Christopher plans to major in either Biotechnology or Chemistry.

Raritan Americus, a former Lodge in the Woodbridge/Amboy area, merged with Lafayette in 2004 and Lafayette Lodge was happy to carry on the scholarship tradition. Every Spring, students from Perth Amboy, Woodbridge, Iselin, Colonia, and Rahway High Schools are invited to submit applications for the Scholarship. Besides good grades, criteria include an essay, extra-curricular activities, school activities, and financial data. Students sponsored by a Mason may also apply for the scholarship.

Members of the Scholarship Committee included John Bergacs, Warren Gerber, and Larry Bodine.

7 THINGS YOU MUST KNOW BEFORE PUTTING YOUR HOME UP FOR SALE

This industry report shows clearly how the traditional ways of selling homes have become increasingly less and less effective in today's market. The fact of the matter is that fully three quarters of homesellers don't get what they want for their homes and become disillusioned and - worse - financially disadvantaged when they put their homes on the market.

The City of Rahway is home to a couple of those students selected, like 14-year-old Brandon Grajales who delved into the world of performing art in the 5th grade. The first area of performing arts he participated in was the Select Chorus, here Brandon would partake in as many solos and concerts as he could. When Brandon reached the 7th grade he was cast in his first play at the 7th and 8th grade academy, where Brandon's love for performing arts grew.

Brandon views his sister as the inspirational force that pushes him forward towards his dreams of joining Rahway High School's Performing Arts Program, and beyond, as she too is keen to the performing arts world. Brandon enjoys performing arts because it allows him to use his

While Brandon is in the beginning of his high school career another Paper Mill Playhouse Conservatory pupil has just completed his. Michael Akakpo is 18 years old and just graduated from Rahway High School, he is a dance enthusiast. He enjoys the variety that comes with dance, “there are so many forms and styles,” explained Michael. In Michael’s high school career, he has been in 8 different shows, but recounts his show in middle school, Aladdin. School director Allison Dooley and musical director Robert Vanwyk are credited with inspiring this young dancer. “Every year they do what they love with the resources they’re given, inspiring kids and creating performers,” expressed Michael. Michael will now be venturing off to Johnson and Wakes University where he will be majoring in media communications, simultaneously auditioning for shows in the Big Apple.

“The Paper Mill Playhouse Theater Conservatory has made me look through a different perspective of the performing arts,” stated Brandon. “Although it’s a lot of work, we know we’re working towards our dreams,” expressed Michael. These artists do not have any hurdles they cannot leap and seem bound for success.

WHAT'S IN A NAME? THAT WHICH WE CALL A PRISON BY ANY OTHER NAME...

By Al Shipley, City Historian and Rahway Library Research Consultant

Mention the name East Jersey State Prison and most wouldn't have a clue to what one was referring. Mention Rahway Prison, however, and there's a very good chance most people, even those living in states across the country, have heard of the notorious penal institution. For Rahway citizens, the name "Rahway Prison" has been a point of contention from the time the facility was opened.

In 1895 the New Jersey Legislature voted to establish the state's first reformatory to be built for young men between the ages of 16 and 30 who were found guilty of a first offense. The purpose was to provide a place where young men could be sent that would give them the greatest possibility to reform. The site chosen for the reformatory was a 300 acre tract of state-owned land located in the Avenel section of Woodbridge Township, Middlesex County. At the time, Avenel, which did not become an established community until 1901, was for the most part farmland and open space. Construction took three years and the facility opened on August 1, 1901. The new structure, with its large imposing dome and distinctive architecture, immediately became the most prominent landmark in the area.

The building complex encompassed 21 acres and included an administration building, cell houses, school rooms, a chapel, and other buildings which were surrounded by a large wall. Within the enclosure were athletic fields for baseball, football, softball, and soccer. The entire prison was surrounded by hundreds of acres of farmland that the inmates worked.

With rehabilitation being the primary purpose, a well-balanced and properly supervised program was offered. Vocational training included tailoring, cooking, shoemaking, printing, electric work, farming/gardening, plumbing, and painting. Complete medical, psychological, and psychiatric facilities were provided. Attendance at religious services, offered for Protestant, Catholic, and Jewish inmates, was strongly encouraged, but optional.

By the late 1920s, with the construction of reformatories at Annandale and Bordentown, Rahway was upgraded and changed from a reformatory to a prison for adult males. Today, the maximum security penitentiary houses over 1,500 inmates.

From the time the reformatory opened in 1901, the name "Rahway" quickly became attached to it even though it was not in the city of Rahway nor was it even in Union County. Due to the fact that it was situated in rural, undeveloped Avenel, all mail sent to the facility was processed through the Rahway Post Office. Also, anyone visiting the reformatory via the railroad would alight at Rahway Station.

The consternation felt by Rahway citizens regarding the reformatory and later the prison is nothing new and has rankled residents from the time the institution received its first inmates. In a letter written to a local newspaper in 1927 a Rahwayan wrote in part, "Rahway is the target for all kinds of witticism and receives much unfavorable criticism because of the misuse of the name... Outsiders probably have the idea that the outstanding feature of Rahway is the reformatory; that it occupies a site in the heart of the city; and that the whole business life of the city revolves around the institution... Certainly, being known as a reformatory town does not add to the attractiveness of a place. Indeed, it might very well prove a hindrance to the development of a town."

In the late 1970s and into the 1980s, an aggressive effort was finally made by city officials to get the name changed. On February 8, 1982 a resolution was introduced to the city council by Third Ward Councilman Max Sheld requesting the New Jersey Department of Corrections to give the facility an official name "that does not identify it with any geographical location." Five months later the Rahway measure passed through the Assembly by a vote of 49-17. Legislators agreed that "By assigning a more regionalized name to the prison, we can hopefully prevent its proximity from distracting from the desirability of nearby communities." The wheels of government turn slowly, however, and it was not until five years later, on November 30, 1987, that a law was signed by Governor Thomas Kean to change the name to East Jersey State Prison.

Although the new name has officially been in use for almost 30 years, hardly anyone is heard referring to the place as East Jersey State. Unlike the Merchants and Drovers which is fondly remembered as the Girl Scout House or the Union County Performing Arts Center as the Rahway Theater, Rahway Prison is a term void of nostalgic sentiment. Unfortunately, it will probably take a few more generations before the misnomer is totally forgotten.

ORNAMENTAL KALE

Brassica oleracea

After Chrysanthemum flowers fade away and squirrels have eaten the pumpkins, 'Ornamental Kale' or 'Flowering Cabbage' still brings color to the late autumn garden. These beautiful plants are prized for their brightly colored foliage which becomes more intense when temperatures drop below 50 degrees.

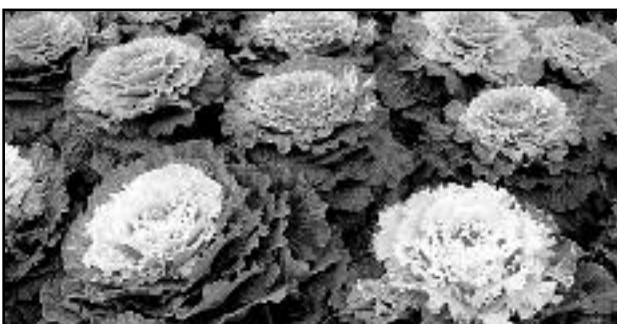

Ornamental Kale is in the same family as cabbage, broccoli, cauliflower and collars. Although flowering kales are *edible, it is not delicious and is best used as a garnish on the bottom of the plate.

When you buy Ornamental kale at your local garden center select plants close to the size you want them when mature. Once root bound they will not grow much more than they already have in the pot.

When you bring it home, plant them in the ground or transplant into another pot. Bury stems so that the lowest leaves are flush with the soil surface.

Ornamental kale requires a sunny location in a moderately moist rich soil. Keep the plants moist. Kale and cabbage do not tolerate drying out and will lose vigor quickly. Fully grown plants are approximately 15 inches tall and one foot wide.

When colder weather arrives pigments in the leaves will brighten, white pink or red. This is when they are at the peak of their display. In addition to color kale leaves have many shapes, (above) President of The Rahway Garden Club, James Keane has been researching and answering garden questions since 1995.

Visit 'Keane Gardener' blog at:
keanegardener.blogspot.com

curly, frilly or ruffled.

There are many different cultivars available today, 'Peacock', 'Pigeon', 'Osaka' and the 'Tokyo' to name a few. Home gardeners have a large selection to choose from. Pick the plants most pleasing to your eyes.

You can start seeds ten weeks before the expected frost date or purchase plugs at your local garden center. Growing them can be fun but you will have to battle beetles and insects to prevent them from chewing holes in the leaves. I only have space for a few pots so I use this opportunity to support my local garden nurseries.

*As noted above, ornamental kale and flowering cabbage plants are edible, but they are tough and bitter. To reduce their bitter taste, boil them, discard the water and then boil or sauté them in olive oil prior to serving.

The information in this article is from University of Wisconsin-Extension Garden Facts (XHT1163) Susan Mahr, UW Horticulture Agent.

Happy gardening,

James

RAHWAY'S ESL GRADUATES RETURN TO BUILD THEIR LIVES IN THE COMMUNITY THAT FIRST EMBRACED THEM

Submitted by: Rob Kinch

These were not the usual Rahway High School Back-To-School Night programs. No, for some they were events touched by a special blend of pride, gratitude and, above all, love.

For the past two years, when the parents of students in Diane Lagatutta's ESL class attend the event, almost all share a common, very fond memory. They once sat in those same desks now occupied by their children. They were also eager to visit the teacher to whom they caringly refer as 'Miss', for it was she who became their mentor, their champion and, ultimately, their friend. 'Miss' had helped each of them face the challenges of living and learning in a new country adrift in a language they didn't understand.

Throughout her 27-year career as Rahway High School's only ESL teacher, Ms. Lagatutta has dedicated her energies and, quite often, her emotions to guiding her students from countries such as El Salvador, Peru, Haiti, Columbia, Egypt, and the Phillipines. Her students were always eager to share their stories and their struggles each day with her and 'Miss' made sure to provide an arena for them that was always warm, safe, nurturing, and supportive. She is proud to affirm that "their adolescence was so rewarding and they felt so welcomed by the community that they decided to make their homes and raise their families in the town that made them feel they were truly home. It is a tribute to all of Rahway."

Former RHS graduate and ESL student, Pilar Celis, offers moving testimony on her years at the high school. "Today, I am very pleased with myself of what I have accomplished thanks to what I learned in Rahway High School. I was introduced to English as a Second Language where Ms. Lagatutta was the teacher. Not only did she teach me English but helped me to build my character to overcome barriers and to achieve goals. RHS helped me to make a relationship with the people and Rahway became my family."

Ms. Celis' daughter is a student at Roosevelt Elementary School where, "she follows a curriculum but is encouraged to continue practicing her parents' native language and culture."

Touched by the stories shared by so many of these new members to the community, Mayor Samson Steinman was eager to express his feelings. "Rahway signifies growth and unity. When former Rahway ESL graduates maneuvered through Rahway Board Education, grew up, had their own families and felt so confident to trust us with their children, it really signifies just what an amazing job was done and the mark we have left on each and every student."

Echoing Mayor Steinman's sentiments, Pilar Celis offers what has also been said by so many of her former classmates and ESL students: "I consider that Rahway is the best place to raise my daughter and there is not better place than Rahway to be called home."

'Miss' would definitely agree.

BLESSING OF THE ANIMALS

OUR TOWN Rahway • Page 11 • October 2016

On Saturday September 17th St. Thomas the Apostle Byzantine Catholic Church, located at 1410 St. Georges Avenue, Rahway, invited the public to a service to honor Saint Mamas The Martyr with the blessing of animals. St. Mammas is the patron saint of animals in the Byzantine Catholic Church.

About 2 dozen dogs, a few cats and a couple of frogs, along with their caregivers, attended the service officiated by Right Rev. Archpriest James G. Hayer along with Archpriest James Hayer.

Father Jim began the service with the instructions "If the dogs bark say Amen". The attendees were then led in prayers which stated in part "Bless and shield and protect these animals with Your mercy and heavenly care. Drive out from them all sickness and malady. May they be a constant source of joy to their owners, a comfort to those in sorrow, and a therapy for those who are sick. Send a special blessing on those who care for them: their owners, and veterinarians and especially on all who gathered here on this day.

DESTINATION BEAUTIFUL, INC.

On Saturday, September 3, 2016, Destination Beautiful, Inc. hosted a "Let's Get Beautiful Day" for young teenage girls going back to school.

Girls from Rahway as well as Linden and surrounding areas participated in the activities which provided the girls an opportunity to receive a free hairstyle, manicure, pedicure, skin care lessons and back to school supplies. The event took place at Beauty and the Chic Hair studio located on Wood Avenue in Linden, NJ.

This year marks the 2nd year the non-profit sponsored a "Let's Get Beautiful Day" The event allows for the organization to get close to community teenagers that may possibly be in need of financial support as well as emotional support to start the school year off. It is the organization's goal to provide a confident, positive and exciting atmosphere for the attendees.

This year's event included the following sponsors: Lord and Taylor of Willowbrook Mall, Cakeaholic Obsession, Mizz Pam's Cuisine, Little Mrs Exquisite Event Planning. Individual sponsors included Lora McLeod, Ruth Parker, Amina Owens and Leslie Boles.

Founded by Rahway residents Shareyna Scott and Nicole Bradley, Destination Beautiful, Inc. is a New Jersey 501(c)(3) mentoring non-profit organization for young teenage girls between the ages of 12-17. The organization has been in existence for over three years now. It is their mission to Be Empowering and Uplifting to Young Girls (Beauty). Destination Beautiful's key focus areas are empowerment, leadership, volunteerism, and scholarship.

FRENCH CLUB SWEETENS BACK-TO-SCHOOL NIGHT FOR PARENTS AND FACULTY

Story by: Rob Kinch

Throughout the evening, the fresh fruit tarts tantalized and the pecan tassies tempted as parents negotiated their way through their children's schedules during the annual RHS Back-To-School Night program held on Sept. 15. Each year, in its always successful fund-raising event, the RHS French Club makes sure that parents and faculty alike have the opportunity to take a moment and savor some special French treats during the often hectic evening's proceedings. What better way to relax after searching floor to floor for that elusive classroom, than to quietly enjoy a fresh and tasty French croissant glazed with Nutella!

Proudly dressed in their crisply pressed chef's jackets, club members find the event great fun and their opportunity to serve very rewarding. Sophomore Jessmary Lora believes the occasion affords her the chance to "develop the organizational skills I'll need in a leadership role...like how to keep people on task." Along with enjoying working with his classmates, freshman Olivier Diegue appreciated the "push"

it gave him to become "more responsible."

The scrumptious French pastries are not only parent pleasers, but also much anticipated treats for the faculty as well. History teacher John Odin feels the yearly event "always adds so much to the evening." He adds, "It's an opportunity to see our students doing something they enjoy while being part of a group effort to raise funds to further the mission of the French Club...and the food ain't so bad!"

1ST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH'S 275TH CELEBRATION

The First Presbyterian Church, located at 1731 Church Street, cordially invites the public to join us for a momentous milestone in Rahway's oldest church – our 275th Anniversary Weekend Celebration. There are two events planned on October 14 and 16:

Friday, October 14 @ 7:00PM, we will be hosting a musical celebration in our beautiful Sanctuary.

Community choirs, comprised of several Rahway churches, will lift up their voices in song and praise.

Sunday, October 16 @ 10:30AM, we will hold a special anniversary worship service that will include not only leaders from our Presbytery, but community leaders as well.

All are welcome to join us as we joyously celebrate 275 years of ministry in Rahway.
